VOL. 46, NO. 151 — TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1964 — TEN CENTS

Troops Attempt To Overthrow Viet Nam Leader

SAIGON, Viet Nam, Sept. 13 (Sunday) (UPI)—Rebellious troops seized Saigon today in an attempt to overthrow Premier Nguyen Khahn, but the air force remained loyal. The fourth division, which can muster anywhere between 10,000 and 40,000 men, moved into Saigon from Cantho, disarming all opposition along the way. They seized the central postoffice, the radio station and the premier's office. No shots were fired.

The uprising was reportedly led by former Interior Minister Gen. Lam Van Phat. Khahn was at Daoat, a resort 170 miles north of Saigon, at the time of the uprising. He had gone there to bring back four generals he had ousted in January when he himself seized power in South Viet Nam. These four men were the ones who had staged a coup last fall, ousting the Diem regime.

Today's uprising was apparently touched off by generals who opposed the return of their four former colleagues.

Saigon was in a state of confusion. Many military men did not know what was happening.

The air force commander, Gen. Nguyen Bao Ky, remained fairthful to Khanh.

Military units remaining faithful to the premier included the navy, the marine corps, the headquarters of the airborne brigade, some of the defense troops and the first, second and third army corps.

If they remain faithful, Khanh still will control a majority of the nation's armed forces.

The rebels, besides the fourth corps—known as the "coups division" because of its strategic location just south of the capital—counted on the seventh and ninth divisions.

The fourth corps was led by Gen. Duong Van Duc.

Ky, the air force commander, told this correspondent this morning in his heavily-guarded office that he opposed any coup in which Duc took part. Ky was trying to reach Khanh by telephone.

Khanh had been expected back in Saigon at 10 p.m. EDT but by midnight EDT his C47 had not returned to Saighon.

He was to have brought back with him four banished generals, Le Van Kim, Ton That Dinh, Tran Van Don and Mai Huan.

One ranger captain who threw his lot with the rebels said he did so because of the imminent return of the banished generals.

Legislative Council Meets in T. F., Will Send Delegate East

The Idaho state legislative council decided Saturday to send a member of the council to Atlantic City, N.J., to attend the annual meeting of the National Legislative Leaders conference on Sept. 21 to study the reapportionment problem. This has been placed on the agenda to gain a complete study of the proposed reapportionment of the Idaho legislature. Sen. R. H. (Bill) Young, R., Canyon, chairman of the council, and Rep. Pete Cenarrusa, R., Blaine, co-chairman, will choose the delegate to Atlantic City Monday at Boise.

Myron Scheleckte, Boise, director of the legislative council, asked the council if he could hire three part-time junior or senior College of Idaho students to work with him on the reapportionment study as part of a legislative intern program.

Scheleckte told the group that he was approached by a faculty member of the college who asked if he might hire some of his better students interested in government to work under a legislative intern program.

The council decided to proceed with the program on a trial basis with Scheleckte submitting progress reports.

Scheleckte also reported the budget and the council decided to study the reports more and discuss them during the next meeting to be held in Boise.

Reports pertaining to the preparation to remodeling the third and fourth floors of the state capitol building were heard during the morning session held at the Rogerson hotel.

Young said since there will be 79 members in the legislature this year instead of 63 at the last session, the council will have a space problem which has to be solved in order to have meeting and hearing rooms.

A request was heard from Sen. Rodney Hansen, R., Minidoka, relative to the budget for the council and how to assist the state budget director in preparing it.

Dora Regains Force, Dumps Heavy Rains

PERRY, Fla., Sept. 12 (UPI) — Dora rebuilt into a tropical storm today, slamming northern Florida and south Georgia with torrential rains that caused eight-foot deep flooding in some spots and forced evacuation of at least 1,500 persons.

Forecasters said the storm likely would regain hurricane force Sunday when it moves out over the Atlantic again.

A huge area was hit by the flooding rains. The affected area extended northward along the Florida west coast from Tampa to Tallahassee, across the northern sector of the state to Jacksonville, and northward into south Georgia.

According to the Red Cross, about 1,000 homes had been affected on the Florida west coast above Tampa; another 350 families likely would have to seek shelter in the Gainesville, Fla. area and more than 200 homes were caught in flood waters at Waycross, Ga.

Col. George L. Robinson, Florida's deputy civil defense director, said the situation was still too unsettled to pin down the exact number of evacuees, but estimated at least 1,500 persons had been driven from their homes.

He said 300 to 400 homes were evacuated in Live Oak alone.

Live Oak was one of the hardest hit communities, Fennholloway and the Cory subdivision, both near Perry, also experienced heavy flooding.

More than 500 persons were evacuated in the Perry area.

Water eight feet deep swirled through sections of the Live Oak business district, covering parking meters and flooding store fronts. Live Oak has a population of about 7,500 and lies between Tallahasee and Jacksonville.

NFO Warned Against More Violence

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 12 (UPI)—Wisconsin Gov. John W. Reynolds warned against further violence on National Farmers Organization picket lines today as the NFO announced the lifting Monday of a moratorium on demonstrations at livestock yards in the state.

Reynolds and NFO President Oren Lee Staley met behind closed doors at the state capitol yesterday, but disagreed on terms for keeping peace on the picket lines.

The governor said he had made it "perfectly clear that we're going to have law and order" and "there'll be no more blocking of highways and no trespassing."

Staley said that "lawful demonstrations are certainly the farmers' legal right." he said the moratorium on Wisconsin demonstrations called after two NFO pickets were killed by a livestock truck Wednesday would be lifted.

Wisconsin is one of 23 states where the NFO is in its fourth week of attempting to keep cattle and hogs from market in an effort to increase prices paid producers. The action has had little effect in large markets.

Proposal for T. F. Junior College Is OK'd by Educators

BOISE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Twin Falls county voters will be asked to decide at the Nov. 3 general election if they favor creation of a junior college district in the county. The state board of education cleared the way to put the proposal on the ballot at the session of the September meeting, which ended today. The board said that in accepting the petition for creation of the district that, under the junior college law, it was giving formal approval to the proposal.

A two-thirds majority will be required for passage.

The district would be empowered under the junior college law to levy up to 2.5 mills in local taxes. Bonding capacity would be 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of the county, which is nearly 46 million dollars. The district would also receive half of the county's share of state liquor taxes.

It will be the second time in a little over a year that Twin Falls county residents have been asked to act on a junior college proposal. The first failed to gain even a simple majority of the votes cast in a June, 1963, election.

Creation of Twin Falls junior college would bring to three the number of local tax supported two-year institutions in the state. The others are Boise junior college and North Idaho junior college at Coeur d'Alene.

Jack Shaw, Twin Falls, chairman of the planning committee, said, however, that there is a "new feeling" in the area and that he believes the proposal will receive the support of area residents.

He said the first proposal was defeated because of a dispute over where the college would be located. He said one faction was pressing to make Buhl the seat of the college while another group wanted the school at Twin Falls.

He said there has been no discussion on a location this time and that the committee has agreed to leave it up to the board of trustees to select a site.

Shaw said his committee hopes in time to bring neighboring counties into the district.

Shaw stated everyone interest-

T.F. Youth Camp to Be One of First 22

A youth job camp for the Twin Falls area is scheduled to be one of the first 22 such camps to be established in the nation, anti-poverty program officials in Washington, D.C., reported Friday. Pat Anderson, public information officer, said a delay in appropriations has interrupted the timetable somewhat, but a go-ahead on construction of a camp for the Twin Falls area, if approved, should come sometime in October or November. The forest service would be in charge of operating the Twin Falls camp, Max Rees, Sawtooth national forest supervisor, said two sites in the south hills are under consideration.

Final approval on a site selection will be up to the office of economic opportunity, Rees said, after which the proposed site would be announced and referred to Gov. Robert E. Smylie for his approval.

No action would be taken to initiate the camp until the governor had approved.

Anderson telephoned the Times-News from Washington to compliment Lowell Dick, managing editor, on his editorial "Share the Air" in the Aug. 30 edition.

"We've just received a copy of the paper," Anderson said, "and we think it's the best thing that has been written on the subject to date. It showed a better grasp of the matter than any editorial we've seen."

Dick, who has written Times-News editorials for the last three years, was in the hospital for nine days and now is in bed at home with a slipped disc in his spinal column. Since his confinement he has been dictating his editorials from his bed.

The reserve grand champion steer sold for $304 to the Blackfoot Livestock and Commission company. It was shown by Bruce Crapo, Fremont county.

School Board OK's 1-Mill Hike in Levy

The Twin Falls school board approved an emergency one-mill levy increase, justified by an increase in school attendance over last year, during the board's meeting Friday evening at the school administrative office, 201 Main avenue west.

The emergency one-mill levy increase stemmed from an average daily increase of about 123 students over last year's attendance.

The board also announced appointment of Jan B. Campbell as a fourth grade teacher at Lincoln school.

Supt. Ernest Ragland announced the district would use an auto driver simulator for assistance in driver's training at the high school. The simulator is leased from the department of education to high schools in the state.

Wagon Days Parade Draws Large Crowds

KETCHUM, Sept. 12—A parade of horse-drawn vehicles kicked off the annual Wagon days celebration and entertained about 55,000 spectators.

Featured in the parade was the Lewis ore wagon pulled by 16 horses driven on a jerk line. Judge Fleming, who usually drives the team, was a parade supervisor this year. The team was driven by Richard Hill, Castleford.

George Venable led the parade of 68 entries.

Mrs. Mary Brown was queen and rode in a phaeton (an old-style buggy) driven by Ray Seal, Sun Valley. She was presented with a large bouquet of red roses.

One of the outstanding floats was a mock wedding depicting the first Ketchum pastor. Jule LaJeunesse, Eden, played the part of the pastor; Rodette Peak, Bellevue, was the bride, and Roger Fry, also of Bellevue, was her bridegroom. Little Susan Stricker was the flower girl.

A barbecue was held in the village square from 5 to 7 p.m., serving 650 people. John Sabala and Fred Turner were in charge of the arrangements.

President May Tour Some Parts of West

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (UPI)—President Johnson is planning a three-day "non-political" tour in connection with his meeting set for Wednesday with Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson. Congressional and other sources said yesterday that the President would visit at least Great Falls, Mont.; Portland, Ore.; Seattle, Wash., and Sacramento, Calif., after talks with Pearson in Vancouver, B.C. The White House would neither confirm nor deny the reports. Sources said Johnson also might visit other Western states before returning to Washington; possibly late Friday.

Johnson and Pearson were expected to meet at Great Falls and proceed to Vancouver to discuss implementation of the U.S.-Canadian treaty for joint development of the Columbia river.

The two leaders were to be accompanied by a group of U.S. senators and governors, many of whom were expected to join the party at Great Falls.

A visit to the International Peace Arch on the border at Blaine, Wash., also was included in the President's tentative schedule.

After talks with the Canadians, Johnson was scheduled to fly to Portland to address a luncheon sponsored by the Pacific Northwest Public Power association and the Northwest Electric Light and Power association. The major address was to mark launching of the 700 million dollar Pacific Northwest-Pacific Southwest power intertie to be built in partnership with private power.

From Portland, Johnson was scheduled to return to Seattle, Wash., where Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D., Wash., said tentative plans called for the President's appearance at a dinner on Wednesday night. The President was expected to spend the night in Seattle and proceed south to California on Thursday.

Several Western governors and senators—Democrats and Republicans alike—have been invited to join the President's party Wednesday morning at Great Falls, Mont., or to accompany him from Washington.

Pearson was to meet the President at Great Falls and to accompany him on a two-hour aerial inspection of hydroelectric power sites in the area before proceeding to Vancouver to discuss implementation of the Columbia river treaty and other common problems.

Beatle to Have Tonsils Out, Request Is Made for Them

BOSTON, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Ringo Starr disclosed to newsmen tonight that he would undergo a tonsillectomy soon and that one fan has asked that the removed tonsils be sent to her.

Starr and the other three shaggy haired Beatles held a news conference in the Hotel Madison prior to appearing at a concert at the adjoining Boston Garden.

"I am going to have my tonsils out soon," said drummer Starr who was stricken with a throat ailment earlier this year. He told newsmen that he was undecided about whether he would send the removed tissue to his admirer.

The Beatles, who arrived at Hanscom field, some 20 miles west of Boston, this morning were met with stiff security precautions, spent most of the day asleep in their hotel room. The hotel is favored by entertainers and police officials because the garden can be reached without going outside.

Several hundred girls congregated outside the building a few hours later, screaming, singing songs and trying to get to the Beatles' 11th floor quarters by going up fire escapes and dumb waiters.

Woman Is Beaten as Four Watch

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 12 (UPI) — A 39-year-old mother of six was brutally beaten to death last night on a lonely dirt road while four children watched in horror.

Police found the battered body of Mrs. John Jelks sprawled in a pool of blood in a field beside some railroad tracks on the city's northeast side. Her skull had been crushed.

The four youngsters, who had been playing in the field, told officers they watched a man strike Mrs. Jelks "a dozen or more times" with a sledge hammer. One of the youngsters ran for help, but his pleas were ignored by adults.

Two Soviet Jets Violate Air Space

MOENCHENGLADBACH, Germany, Sept. 12 (UPI) — Two Soviet jet fighters violated eastern air space by following a West German civilian plane 13 miles into West Germany, British military spokesman said Saturday.

The incident reportedly occurred Sept. 2, but was not made public then so the Soviets could explain it. The spokesman said the Soviet commander in chief in East Germany has refused to offer either "an apology or an explanation."

The headquarters of British forces in Germany said British jet fighters "scrambled" aloft during the incident.

"On their appearance, the Soviet fighters withdrew over East German territory," the British reported.

The statement said the civilian plane, a Beechcraft, was on an aerial photography mission over the Teuteberg in the state of Lower Saxony. A spokesman from the state economics ministry said the pilot had been contracted for the job by Lower Saxony.

The sources said the Peking regime might be willing to pay a considerable price for such an understanding.

They suggested that the idea of China trying to get a more friendly relationship with the United States was not unrealistic in the light of recent Chinese moves.

Coyote Pup Is Adopted by Cat

YERINGTON, Nev. (UPI) — Liz, the feline, is really the cat's meow. She's adopted a coyote.

Liz' owners, the Norman Nielsens, said they found the abandoned coyote pup on their ranch, north of Yerington. They took the pup home and put her with the house cat and her five kittens, just to see what would happen.

Liz took to the pup and let it nurse milk for about a month. Although the cat-coyote relationship was still going strong, the Nielsens say they will eventually put the coyote in a zoo.

Demos Have No Plans to Hide Baker Material

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Chairman B. Everett Jordan of the senate rules committee says there is "no intention on the part of the Democrats to hide anything" in the reopened investigation of the Bobby Baker case.

Jordan, D., N. C., said yesterday that Republican charges that referral of the case to the rules committee amounted to a whitewash were "plain political poppycock."

Group Approves Amendment on Equal Rights

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — The senate judiciary committee approved yesterday a proposed constitutional amendment that provides that "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

The so-called "equal rights for women" amendment has been approved in past congresses by the committee, but it has never been passed by both the house and senate.

RADIO IS TAKEN

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Two city policemen left their cruiser recently to investigate a theft. When they returned they found that someone had stolen the automobile's radio microphone.

Johnson May Get Gains From Tour

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (UPI) — President Johnson apparently scored some political gains from his flying tour to inspect hurricane Dora's damage in Florida and Georgia.

The chief executive held out hope of prompt federal aid to help citizens in the two states rebuild their storm-shattered homes and businesses.

He missed no chance on yesterday's eight-hour trip to show his-and-the-federal government's concern for human hardship as he surveyed coastal damage. Democratic officeholders were always at his side.

Johnson took time out from scrutinizing losses inflicted by Hurricane Dora to shake hands with hundreds of persons who welcomed him to the Jacksonville, Fla., and Brunswick, Ga., areas Friday.

Local political leaders said a heavy turnout in the Georgia coastal city was a good omen for Johnson's chances at the polls in November in his race against Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, his Republican opponent.

The outcome in Florida, which has not gone Democratic since 1948, is considered more doubtful. Yet it was obvious that the President's inspection tour in the company of Gov. Farris Bryant and Sens. Spessard L. Holland and George A. Smathers, all Democrats, did him no harm.

Clambering over muddy beaches and crumbling seawalls, Johnson saw some of the estimated 204 million dollars damage caused by tropical storms in the two states.

ed in the Junior college must work hard to convince friends and neighbors of the need and make no mistake about the need.

"We currently have over 3,300 high school students in the county and unless the citizens of Twin Falls pass the issue, many of these youngsters will have to terminate their education the day they are graduated."

The board instructed Univer sity of Idaho President Dr. D. R. Theophilus to investigate the feasibility of instituting a quarter system or a revised semester system at the university.

Dr. Wallace Steffens, university academic vice president, told the board he favors a trimester system.

Under the system, the school year would be broken into three semesters, from September through December, January through April, and May through August.

Dr. Steffens said this would enable more efficient use of the university's facilities and faculty and give students the opportunity to complete their college work in three years rather than four.

Board President Elvin Hampton asked Theophilus to determine the cost of the system so that figures could be presented to the 1967 legislature.

He also suggested that Theophilus and Steffens contact the presidents of Idaho State university and the privately-financed four-year colleges in the state to determine whether they would favor such a system.

Court Order Sought to Desegregate

By United Press International

A Negro attorney sought a federal court order yesterday to prevent white residents of a Mississippi county from interfering with public school desegregation.

The U. S. district court petition charged that "fear of harassment, possible economic and physical harm" prevented Negro residents from registering their children at white schools in Leake county, the home county of former Gov. Ross Barnett.

Only one Negro — 6-year-old Debora Lewis — applied and was accepted to attend previously all-white classes at the Carthage, Miss., elementary school Sept. 1. Attorneys charged her father, A. D. Lewis, was fired from his job at a Carthage lumber company the following day.

Leake county is one of four school systems in Mississippi under federal court orders to begin desegregation steps in the first grade this fall.

Attorney Derrick Bell asked the court to require the school board to permit additional Negro children to "transfer immediately to the Carthage school at the first grade level."

In New York City, Mayor Robert Wagner yesterday called a special session of the city council for Sept. 24 in connection with a controversy over the school board's integration plans. White parents have scheduled a public school boycott Monday in protest against a board plan to transfer some students out of their neighborhoods to improve the racial balance in several schools.

Around 3,000 pupils were transported by buses to schools outside their neighborhoods in Philadelphia yesterday in a new move to lessen racial imbalance there.

Sen. Humphrey Characterizes Sen. Goldwater

DENVER, Sept. 12 (UPI) — Democratic vice presidential nominee Hubert Humphrey characterized Sen. Barry Goldwater tonight as a political no-man to whom the voters "must say no . . . one hundred million times no."

Humphrey made the statement at Denver Stapleton airfield when he arrived on his western campaign swing, and repeated it in remarks prepared for a party fund-raising rally in Denver city auditorium.

Humphrey stepped off his chartered American airlines Electra from Rapid City, S. D., into brilliant fall sunshine and to the cheers of a partisan crowd estimated at 1,000 persons. He climbed up on a flatbed truck and lit into the opposition.

Dinosaur Sign Slows Traffic

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Dick Harrison wanted to slow down traffic on Lafayette road in front of his home so he put up a sign similar to ones used by the state highway department that said "Dinosaur crossing" and had an illustration of one of the beasts on it.

The sign produced results. In fact it brought one motorist to a complete stop long enough to swipe the sign.

357 Rams Are Sold at Sale In Pocatello

POCATELLO, Sept. 12 (AP) — A total of 357 rams was sold here today at the annual Pocatello ram sale, bringing $36,663 or an average of $102.80 per head.

Consignors and buyers from many Idaho areas were on hand at the Pocatello livestock auction yards for the sale sponsored by Idaho Wool Growers association, secretary Mel Claar reported.

Most popular at the sale were Suffolk yearlings, with 186 head bringing an average of $109.5. Forty-four Suffolk-Hampshire yearlings went for $155 each.

Also sold were 54 Suffolk ram lambs, seven Suffolk studs, one Hampshire stud, 11 Suffolk-Hampshire ram lambs, 15 Panama yearlings, 20 Columbia yearlings and 10 Targhee yearlings.

Top prices paid were $220 each for five Suffolk-Hampshire yearlings consigned by T. B. Burton, Cambridge, and purchased by Joe Sains, Springfield, and $220 for one Suffolk stud consigned by Lawson Howland, Cambridge, and purchased by Fred M. Laidlaw, Carey.

Sains also paid $215 each for five Suffolk-Hampton yearlings consigned by Elkington brothers, Idaho Falls, and Ernest Lombard, Wayan, paid $200 each for five of the same breed also consigned by Elkington Brothers.

Teacher Takes His Own Advice

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Fred Harrington, a science teacher at Sarasota high school, learns from what he teaches.

Last January, Harrington was giving a lecture on the physiological effects of smoking cigarettes. He opened a fresh pack and lit one to show the students the brown stain the smoke would make when blown through a handkerchief.

"While talking to them," Harrington says, "I convinced myself I still have the other 19 cigarettes in the pack. I quit smoking then and there."

Man Injured By Gas Bomb In Russia

BONN, West Germany, Sept. 12 (UPI) — The government charged tonight a member of its embassy staff in Russia was critically injured by a mustard gas attack while attending church services in a town outside Moscow.

The government statement said embassy technician Horst Schwirkmann was attacked last Sunday while attending services in Zagorsk, about 48 miles from Moscow. It said Schwirkmann was brought out of the Soviet Union and now is near death in a West German hospital.

An official protest has been transmitted to Russia over the incident.

German diplomats said the attack may have been performed by an intelligence agency which had failed to coordinate with Soviet political authorities.

It was believed the weapon used to shoot the poison mustard gas was a gas pistol of the type used for protection against dogs and holdup men.

Unofficial sources had claimed the incident was a kidnap attempt carried out by the Soviet secret service but later backed down on their story when the foreign ministry issued its account.

Schwirkmann, according to the foreign ministry account, was at services at an orthodox cloister with several other members of the German embassy when he felt a blow against his left upper thigh and felt his trouser leg become soaked with a fluid. The fluid went through the cloth of Schwirkmann's trousers and into his skin.

Scientists Plan Boost In Power

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Space scientists have acted to boost the power level of the orbiting OGO I space laboratory by turning its solar panels 41 degrees to an angle that will enable it to absorb more solar energy.

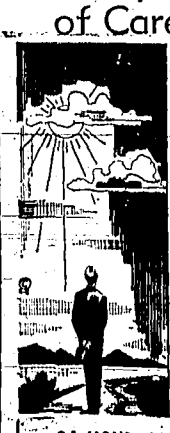

The Goddard space and flight center in Greenbelt, Md., commanded OGO to turn yesterday after radio signals from the craft weakened considerably.

The national aeronautics and space administration said the satellite continues to send data and respond favorably to ground commands.

Since its launching a week ago, 19 of OGO's 20 experiments have functioned. Scientists plan to experiment for the next few days before trying the 20th experiment.

Idaho Group To Start Plan Study

BOISE, Sept. 12 (UPI)—A building subcommittee of the Idaho legislative council began studying tentative drawing suggesting "drastic alterations" to expand the house chamber, to accommodate up to 88 members.

The house will have 77 members in the 1965 session, compared with 63 in 1963 and further reapportionment is considered possible.

Boise architect Charles Hummel said the plans call for removal of pillars that support the dome over the house chamber, with other reinforcements to make up for them.

The gallery would be moved from the east to the west end of the chambers with visitors facing the speaker's desk.

A partition would separate the house floor from a corridor around it, and a lobby would permit the sergeant at arms to exercise more control over who gets in. Hummel said the aim was to keep the floor free of non-members.

The plan provides for a chamber built in tiers, with the back rows of legislative seats higher than the front rows.

There would be more office space for legislative leaders and the caucus room, now at the rear of the chamber, would be on the fourth floor. A stairway between the third and fourth floors would be moved from the front to the rear of the chamber.

Hummel said the drawing of sideration by the lawmakers. fered suggestions only, for consideration.

He said no drawing was prepared for the senate, which has fewer members, but similar changes could be made there.

HOUSTON, Sept. 12 (UPI) — Jim Hayes won't throw an office-warming party at his swimming pool factory as planned today. Things got too hot there already.

Coast Guard Commander George F. Thometz, jr., son of Mrs. Anne L. Thometz, Colonial apartments, was co-pilot aboard a coast guard helicopter Aug. 16 that went to the aid of a seriously ill seaman who had received a malaria attack aboard the cargo vessel SS Del Aires.

The vessel was 110 miles offshore, southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi river. The patient was taken to the U.S. public health service at New Orleans.

Commander Thometz is the commanding officer of the coast guard air station at New Orleans. He is a graduate of the Coast Guard academy, New London, Conn.

T.F. Information Booth Is Placed Into Winter Storage

Once again the Perrine Memorial information booth is retired for the winter.

Next Memorial day Twin Falls city employes will move the structure back to its summer location with the help of the "cherry picker," a truck operated hoist. The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce notes that the city is always helpful in donating its time, equipment and services for projects such as this.

The booth is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and is operated throughout the summer at the Perrine Memorial bridge by local service clubs. Each member of a club spends half a day. Women of these organizations usually work on Sundays. They serve approximately 200,000 tourists every summer.

The main point of interest is, of course, Shoshone falls, but many of the visitors want to see a field of Idaho potatoes and ask where one is located in the near vicinity. Sugar beets are often mistaken for Swiss chard by the out-of-state travelers.

Pamphlets, road maps, brochures of Sun Valley, Yellowstone national park, the Tetons, and other points of interest in the Northwest are available at the information booth.

At the end of each day, the person working at the booth is responsible for returning all the materials back to the Chamber of Commerce office where they are picked up again the next morning.

Following the Labor day holiday the Perrine Memorial information booth was removed by Harold Johnson and Arnold Bryson, of the parks and recreation department.

Mind of Their Own

The endorsement of President Lyndon B. Johnson by the executive board of the AFL-CIO, on the surface, appears to be a powerful factor but when it comes right down to a matter of marking ballots the executive board members can guarantee only their own individual votes. Just because the board endorses the President for reelection doesn't mean all members will go along.

Following enactment of the famed Taft-Hartley law, organized labor leaders went all-out in their attempt to defeat Sen. Robert A. Taft the next time he came up for reelection. Hundreds of thousands of dollars and countless hours of effort were thrown into the campaign against Taft. The people returned him to office in the face of the intensive campaign by labor leaders. It doesn't necessarily follow that the same circumstances will be repeated this year but it does follow that the members of labor unions have minds of their own and will vote for whom they please.

No one can predict the effectiveness of the labor union leaders' drive against Senator Goldwater. Labor plans to spend two million dollars campaigning for President Johnson, so the effort obviously can't be ignored. Regardless of what happens labor leaders aren't likely to forsake the political wars. They'll be right back in there pitching whenever and wherever they think some candidate is a threat to labor, or more especially to labor leaders.

Although individual members of labor unions have no voice in expenditure of funds for political purposes, each and every one of them retains absolute control over the final goal—his own vote.

NOT EXACTLY

The label of "rubber stamp" is applied to congress quite frequently, particularly when one party holds a heavy majority in both houses. The implication is that the administration calls the signals and can have anything it wants from congress. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

During the last two sessions of congress Democratic presidents have been blessed with heavy majorities in both the senate and house of representatives. Yet the late President John F. Kennedy failed to push any really significant pet programs through congress. President Lyndon B. Johnson has fared considerably better mostly because he knows when and where to bring pressure and how to bring it. Still, with all his success today he's bound to have failures. One possible failure looming now is the senate-approved medicare plan which appears to face tough sledding from the house.

Senators and representatives zealously guard against encroachment on their powers. The best way to defeat any measure in congress is to tell the lawmakers they MUST approve it. Faced with such dictation many members of congress bow their necks and flatly refuse to follow the leader. In these circumstances members of the majority party team with the minority to prove the point.

TRAGEDY OF PAIN

Within the last few days a young man died at Jerome and a young woman died at Pocatello. They had only one thing in common—both died slowly as the result of automobile accidents. One of the victims survived about four years and the other died more than two years after being injured. They might be termed part of the concealed toll of highway traffic.

For every traffic death that makes headlines many more are injured or maimed for life. In many cases the immediate toll of dead and property damages comprise only a fraction of the eventual cost. In addition to the enormous medical bills that sometimes stretch over several years, there is the human suffering and grief for which no dollars and cents estimates can be made. At this very moment there are thousands upon thousands of accident victims undergoing treatment in hospitals across the nation. Here is the real tragedy of pain, the results from thoughtlessness, recklessness, and carelessness on the nation's highways.

A few judges who deal with traffic violators order violators to view bodies of those killed in accidents. Some of them have found this penalty serves as a powerful deterrent to those inclined to speed or run stop signs. A court-ordered visit to hospitals where the injured and maimed are treated might be even more effective. No measure should be overlooked in the continuing effort to bring courtesy and sanity to the nation's drivers.

The nation must do something to curb the increase in traffic accidents year after year. It's sheer idiocy to permit this terrible waste of human lives and resources to go unchecked year after year. Most citizens are properly indignant when a hunter is killed in a field by another hunter, while most of the nation appears to accept traffic deaths and injuries as something that can't be avoided.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—There is more than a modicum of self-serving sophistry in West Germany's refusal to provide military aid to the United States in Viet Nam and in other areas where brush fire wars threaten world peace.

Andrew Tully

This refusal has received little notice internationally and practically none in the U. S., where the state department doesn't want to make a fuss about it. But it is evident that the Bonn regime, despite its shrill cries about the importance of rescuing Berlin from the communists, is not interested in freedom's efforts elsewhere.

In May, President Johnson asked a score of our allies for help in Viet Nam, he wanted, he said, to "see other flags represented there." Bonn was asked to send a military hospital, surely a non-aggressive contribution, but flatly refused. "They just don't want to get involved in anything unpleasant," is the way one state department aide put it.

GERMAN UNIFORM SUSPECT—Bonn's unhappy excuse for its foot dragging is that people all over the world still resent the German uniform. This may be true, and properly so, but the best way Germans can make amends for starting two disastrous World wars is to stand up and be counted on the side of those who are shedding blood for ideologies that are the antitheses of those espoused by Kaiser Wilhelm and Adolf Hitler.

Indeed, so far the West German government has been merely the recipient of benevolent Free World aid. To be sure, it has 400,000 men in its armed forces, but these are safely committed to the NATO force and spend their time safely doing calisthenics and engaging in target practice. Meanwhile, West Germany has become economically fat, one of the most prosperous countries in the world.

Bonn's neutrality is especially galling to the U. S. and Britain; there are 250,000 American troops in West Germany and nearly 60,000 British troops. This costs both countries a potfull of money, and there has been strong criticism of the situation from British newspapers, with demands that the troops be brought home. Bonn, of course, has reacted in horror to these demands, mouthing florid phrases about the importance of maintaining West Germany's independence.

KENNEDY'S WARNING—But no such country which pretends to cast its lot with the democracies can stand aside from the struggle and keep the respect of its allies. Viet Nam is far away from West Germany, but if it fails to the communists then those communists will be strengthened in their campaign to take over the whole of Berlin.

And, as former Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy said in Heidelberg during his German tour, the Free World must make good on our words in Viet Nam. Then he added: "If we pull out of Viet Nam, what makes you think we would stay in Berlin or Germany?"

Bonn had better heed words like those, lest it find itself dropped from the club.

Views of Others

MENTION MY NAME

Being of some small service to others, especially when it means giving them the benefit of superior experience, confers a little glow of satisfaction on the person to whom the opportunity falls. Not at all, we murmur on being thanked, and we mean it because the action has cost us practically nothing in time or energy. The reward is all the greater when we are able to back a recommendation for a friend with the weighty words: "Mention my name if you like." There is much credit to be drawn from the remark . . .

Sometimes, one must suppose, the magic words produce the right effect. "I was dining the other evening with a Mr. So-and-So and he recommended me to come and see you." The idea is that the mention of So-and-So's name will . . . revive memories overflowing with such gratitude that heaven and earth will be moved to give satisfaction . . .

If, for example, the message was intended for the manager of a charming little restaurant in Dubrovnik, it is probable that the person who has been favored with the carrying of it will have forgotten all about it by the time he gets there. Even if he has not, it is unlikely that the restaurateur will remember So-and-So, who visited the restaurant twice and who . . . exchanged names and a few domestic confidences with him . . . No one is, in effect, one scrap the better off—except in some inexplicable way the person who was supposed to be conferring the benefit.—The Times (London).

FEARING THE WORST

A Peterborough couple who recently visited South Africa have returned to Canada with some startling comparisons to think about. Before they went, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harrison were asked why they wanted to go to Africa in view of the troubles there. Would they return alive, they were asked. On arrival they were questioned about the dangers of race riot in New York and the danger of scalping from Indians in Canada.

The couple blamed exaggerated news reports for the unfounded fears on both sides. And it is true that were one to judge other places entirely by the reported troubles that they undergo, one receives distorted notions of what other countries are like. But why should newspapers be blamed? Is it because newspapers, with their daily reports, provide the sole reading matter of most of the adult population who make no attempt to supplement their knowledge?

If so, this is a poor reflection on human society that it receives no other basis information, with the help of which news reports can be put into perspective. (Though we can remember no recent reports of scalpings!) But people seem to have an affinity for calamity imfringed with discernment. Humanity seems always prepared to believe the worst of itself.—Peterborough (Ont.) Examiner.

POWER FOR THE NEEDY

"There is no power so expensive as no power," says India's Dr. Homi J. Bhabha. The simple logic seems self-evident as expressed at the atoms for peace conference in Geneva.

Dr. Bhabha has reminded us the atomic power promises to be an economic lifesaver for some underdeveloped, fuel poor nations.

In India, what coal there is is quite expensive when it is transported several hundered miles to the power stations. In Pakistan, there is no coal, oil, or water power and only a little natural gas.

If there were not atomic energy, these countries would have to import coal and oil in such quantities that the drain on their foreign exchange would cripple their development.

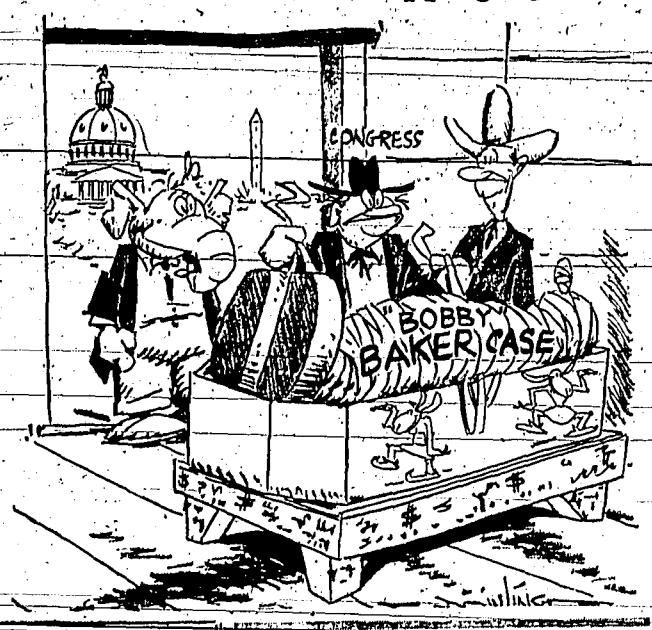

Importing uranium for atomic power plants would be relatively little economic strain.

This exposes the fallacy in the often heard statement that atomic power is economically sensible only for industrially advanced countries.

Western nations (trying to help these developing countries have been right in urging them to put first things first economically. But because atomic electricity is a highly advanced development at home, these western nations have tended unthinkingly to regard it as one of the unnecessary luxuries.

This has been shortsighted. Atomic plants that are only marginally economical in the United States or Britain may well be just what is needed in developing a country like India or Pakistan.—Christian Science Monitor.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP) — Everybody should have a hobby. Have what I consider the ideal hobby.

My hobby is taking medicine. It is the greatest sport of the 20th century.

Boyle

To ski you have to have snow or water. To golf you need landscape. To sail you need a boat and a lake or ocean. To hunt you need a gun and something that will run from you. To fish—well, at least you need a hook and a lot of patience.

But to take medicine all you need is — medicine. There are thousands to choose from, and scores of new ones come on the market each year.

You can make the hobby as expensive or inexpensive as you choose.

The fellow who wouldn't lend you a dime to keep you from starving is glad to let you sample his medicine.

As a beginning hobbyist, you may try to take any and all kinds of medicine. This is the mark of the overeager amateur. To him there is no difference between a medicine to rid one of tapeworms and a liniment to soothe a sprain.

A true connoisseur learns early to specialize.

You can choose medicines designed to cure or alleviate specific ailments—such as colic, colitis, chromium deficiency, or the common cold.

You can confine yourself to liquid medicines, capsules, pills, pellets, or medicines which fizz when you put them into water.

You can even specialize in medicines of a certain color, several colors, those which have either a picture on the bottle, or those restricted purely to printed matter.

I decided to specialize in wonder drugs. The wonderful thing about many a wonder drug is its aura of romance and mystery.

Even if it turns out only to be another cure for the hiccups, you've had the excitement of daring the new, of being at least a footnote in the long story of medical progress.

Taking medicine as a hobby has a distinct social advantage. It makes you the life of any cocktail party.

People are bored with the conversation of skiers, golfers, sailing enthusiasts and African safari survivors. But they throng around me excitedly when they find out that my hobby is taking wonder drugs.

"What's the one that does you the most good?" they invariably ask.

"Aspirin," I have to admit.

Italian Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti's political last will and testament was interesting because it told Soviet leader Khrushchev to stick to his knitting inside the Soviet Union and let other communist parties outside the Soviet Union develop as they will.

Phil Newsom

It also informed Khrushchev that, whatever his own ideas, he was no competent critic of art, music, literature or science.

The 4,500-word document written only a short time before Togliatti's death near Yalta in mid-August was especially interesting since it was the most outspoken inner party criticism yet made public of the Kremlin leadership in its quarrel with Red China and by a man who had managed to weather all the turns in red leadership from Stalin to Khrushchev.

Togliatti had been a friend and admirer of Stalin and was himself regarded as a Stalinist. He firmly supported the Soviets when they crushed the Hungarian revolt of 1956.

Yet he also managed to embrace the Khrushchev philosophy of co-existence. And he must have found his increasing independence of Moscow a heady wine as demonstrated by his close association with President Tito of Yugoslavia and his increasingly vocal resistance to Khrushchev's plan to read the Chinese Reds out of world communism.

At its base, the Togliatti commentary as made public by the Italian party after his death expressed the fears already shown by the leaders of Yugoslavia and Romania.

They were, first, that a split with Red China irrevocably would split the communist world camp.

And second, with China out of the way, the Kremlin then might be tempted to re-assert its rule over the remaining satellites through a revival of the old communist international dissolved during World war II.

But Togliatti, an old Stalinist, went further.

He criticized the delay in development of institutional and personal freedoms within the Soviet Union.

He found the communist claim that theirs is the best of all worlds to be embarrassing, atheistic propaganda to be hypocritical in attempts to reach understanding with Catholics, and little reason for optimism on the prospects for communism in the West.

Khrushchev himself, returning to Moscow from a visit to Prague, made clear that Togliatti's views will do nothing to change his views toward the action to be taken against Red China.

And Henry Shapiro, UPI's veteran of 30 years in Moscow, says there is no threat to Khrushchev's control of the Kremlin.

But the Togliatti memorandum points up something else.

Whereas Stalin rarely consulted party members, Khrushchev must play the role of politician seeking both votes and favor.

Powerful voices raise themselves against his plans to vitalize Soviet agriculture and against him in his quarrel with Red China which is less a quarrel over ideology than for world power.

Even in world communism, the old order changeth.

Quotes from the News

By United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, speaking in Jacksonville, Fla., about the damage caused by Hurricane Dora:

"I want to assure every property owner and every businessman — large or small — indeed every citizen in the community ravaged by these terrible storms, that the necessary steps for rapid rehabilitation are already being taken by the proper government officials . . ."

HURON, S.D. — Democratic vice presidential candidate Hubert Humphrey, warning that Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican standard bearer, was not the friend of the family farmer:

"He would take away, if you let him, the limited protection your government now provides for the producers who have made this modern miracle of American agriculture possible."

WASHINGTON — Republican vice presidential candidate William E. Miller, in supporting proposals of Sen. Barry Goldwater to let field commanders use nuclear weapons at their own discretion:

"Every military man except those muzzled by the present administration agrees with Sen. Goldwater on this question of command."

Religion in America

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The third session of the Vatican Ecumenical council, which will get under way Monday, promises to be the most productive yet.

Louis Cassels

More than 2,300 Catholic bishops from all parts of the world are in Rome to take part in the council deliberations which probably will continue until late November.

The council fathers are expected to complete action on at least five major decrees at this session. By contrast, the first two sessions of the council, in 1962 and 1963, produced only one important document, dealing with liturgical reform.

Things will move faster this fall for two reasons. Pope Paul VI has modified council rules to curb repetitious speeches. And most of the items on the agenda have already been debated extensively.

The first order of business is to finish work on the historic document entitled "De Ecclesia" (Of the Church) which the fathers discussed for six weeks last fall. It contains the assertion that supreme authority in the church is not vested in the Pope alone, but in the whole "college" of bishops, with the Pope as their head.

This is the so-called "doctrine of collegiality" which won overwhelming endorsement of the fathers on a test vote last Oct. 30. Its importance lies in the fact that it would restore the office of bishop to the dignity it enjoyed in the early church and arrest the ever-greater centralization of authority in the Pope which has been the dominant trend in Catholic policy since the council of Trent.

It should be noted, however, that "De Ecclesia" does not water down the concept of papal infallibility. On the contrary, it reaffirms that controversial doctrine in precisely the same words used by the first Vatican council in 1870.

The document on the church contains two other sections of great significance. One would restore the ancient order of deacons, as a permanent ordained office in the Catholic clergy. Deacons, who might be married or unmarried, could administer baptism, conduct worship services, funerals and baptisms in areas where there is an acute shortage of priests. They could not celebrate the mass.

The other section deals with the Virgin Mary. Its contents are still secret. But high church officials are hopeful that it will satisfy the council fathers who want a strong statement of devotion to Mary, without upsetting those who are opposed to any further development of Marian theology in the direction of proclaiming the mother of Jesus to be "co-redemptrix" with her Son.

The second document on the agenda deals with "the pastoral duties of bishops." Like "De Ecclesia," it was debated at length last fall, and was the subject of sharp dispute between progressives and conservatives. The most controversial sections are those which attempt to define the relationship between a bishop and the Vatican bureaucracy, especially the holy office. This document would provide for a considerable decentralization of power in the church, permitting local bishops to decide many questions which now must be referred to Rome.

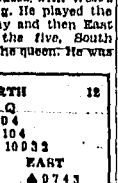

After dealing with these internal concerns, the council fathers will turn their attention outward to the non-Catholic world. Third on their agenda is a document on Christian unity, which was debated last fall and which is sure of overwhelming approval. It goes farther than the Catholic church has ever gone before in acknowledging the presence of an authentic Christian spirit in other churches. One of its practical results may be to permit Catholics to take part in joint worship services on certain occasions.

Interpreting the News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — There's a new breed of speech-writers at work.

Just read the speeches by President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater.

James Marlow

They're not like those in 1960 by Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Johnson has become a one-sentence-to-a-paragraph man, with one idea to a sentence.

After each sentence he looks around 'til the audience digests it.

Take his Labor day speech in Detroit:

"This is a great day in an historic place.

"Here, and today, we begin to move toward new years of achievement for America.

"Sixteen years ago an American president came here and promised that America would enter a new period of hope.'

"You gave him support and he gave you that hope."

Goldwater goes for short sentences, too, but often bunches them in one paragraph.

He tries to give them a roll, a grandeur, with high-sounding abstract words like peace, freedom, liberty.

Here are some from his campaign opener Sept. 3:

"We mean something far different from the opposition party. We mean:

"Peace through preparedness.

"Peace through freedom.

"Purpose through constitutional order.

"These are the themes we shall make resound across this great land of ours, and across an anxious, troubled and listening world."

Kennedy relied on fairly short sentences, but not as terse as Johnson's, and usually packaged them in a paragraph.

Here's Kennedy making a Labor day speech in Detroit in the 1960 campaign:

"I am taking my case to the American people in the next two months because I believe that the American people should decide which direction this country is going to go. The issue is before you and I am confident that in November you will make a choice for progress, not for standing still."

Kennedy's instinct for clarity and brevity was so good he made up that part of his speech after his prepared speech had been released to the press.

The prepared one wasn't that simple, that quick:

"I am taking my case to the American people because that is where it belongs—because that is where there will be no threat of veto or parliamentary obstruction—and because that is where we can always place our confidence."

Because Nixon lacked Kennedy's sense of composition, he didn't get across as easily as Kennedy, and maybe that's one of the things that hurt him.

His sentences were often too stretched, as one of his first 1960 speeches shows:

"I call upon all the people here, whether you are Republicans or Democrats or independents, to hear what I have to say, to hear me on the issues, and then to make your decision—not on the basis of the party label, even though you happen to be a member of my party—but on the basis of whether you think what I stand for is best for America."

The trouble with Johnson's bang-bang-bang is that he may make people hard of hearing.

And Goldwater may put them to sleep if he keeps playing that peace - liberty - freedom record over and over, as he says he will.

Then the entered dummy with a spade and played the deuce of clubs and finessed his jack. West won with the king of clubs and led a second low diamond. West thought that South had started with the ace and queen of diamonds alone. West's friendly play allowed South to make 10 tricks.

West really should not have fallen for the false card. He should have realized that even if South held a doubleton diamond that the diamond return would give South nine tricks. If West wanted to beat the hand, it was up to him to lead the heart king. He should have made this shift, but did not.

However, if South had saved his queen of diamonds at trick one, West would have seen that the continued attack on the diamond suit was hopeless and almost surely would have found the heart shift.

Johnson Is Attacked by Gov. Smylie

BALEM, Ore., Sept. 12 (UPI) — Charges that President Johnson is an "inconsistent, impulsive president" given to "headline hunting" have been leveled by Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

Speaking last night at a fund-raising dinner on behalf of Oregon Republican legislative candidates, Smylie said Johnson "simply does not exude strength."

He said Johnson picked Sen. Hubert Humphrey as his vice presidential candidate, although he had once said he was uncomfortable with members of the Americans for Democratic Action, an organization Humphrey helped found.

"We have an inconsistent, impulsive president today," said Smylie. "A man given to headline hunting, best exemplified by his rush to the television with his Bay-of-Tonkin preview."

Smylie said the way to avoid excesses of federal government power is to elect legislators "responsive to the needs of the people they serve, and who are dedicated to getting the most service out of every dollar."

But, he said, "the essential state legislatures, which are real reservoirs of strength in the free republic, we normally leave to shift for themselves."

Smylie said GOP presidential candidate Barry Goldwater seeks sufficient strength to be respected. "He does not seek to be the big daddy who knows what's best for his children. He seeks rather to loosen the chains, the bonds of government which restrict freedom."

Charge Filed Against Deaf Ex-Convict

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 12 (UPI) — Utah officers, on the basis of a lie detector test, have filed murder charges against a deaf ex-convict in the death of a Salt Lake City woman 34 years ago.

Gray-haired Williams E. Sadler, 61, was given a polygraph test in San Antonio yesterday.

Salt Lake City detective chief Dewey Fillis said results "indicate conclusively that Sadler was telling the truth."

Previously, Sadler told officers and newsmen he was hired to kill Mrs. Dorothy Dexter Moormeister, wife of a Salt Lake City physician.

He said he repeatedly ran her car over the woman on a gravel road near Salt Lake City.

Sadler was recently arrested on a bad check charge at Pearsall, southwest of San Antonio.

Salt Lake City officers became active again in the unsolved slaying after a fellow prisoner in the Pearsall jail wrote Utah officials that Sadler told him he killed Mrs. Moormeister. The informer asked a reward.

After yesterday's lie detector test, Salt Lake City officers said Sadler agreed to extradition to Utah.

Sadler was returned to the Pearsall jail.

U.S. Plans to Put Dummy Into Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Sept. 12 (UPI) — United States plans to rocket a dummy Apollo moonship Friday into an Earth orbit similar to the path three astronauts will take before being propelled to the moon.

The shot will be another step in the nation's 20 billion dollar project designed to land two men on the moon by 1970.

The unmanned Apollo test model will be orbited by a Saturn-1 rocket — America's biggest and most successful booster and forerunner of the giant Saturn-5 that will be used for the men-to-the-moon shots.

The launch had been set for Thursday, but Hurricane Dora interrupted final preparations and caused a day's delay. The 190-foot rocket rode out Dora Wednesday and Hurricane Cleo two weeks earlier without incident.

Space agency officials said the Saturn's satellite, to weigh 36,700 pounds with the burned out Saturn second stage bolted to the Apollo spacecraft, will be aimed toward an orbit ranging from 115 to 135 miles above Earth.

"This orbit closely approximates the 'parking' orbit for later manned lunar exploration missions," the national Aeronautics and space administration (NASA) said.

On the moon flights expected by the end of the decade, the Saturn-5 will first place the three-man Apollo ship into the preliminary parking orbit. Then after circling the globe for one or three times, the Saturn-5's third stage will rocket the Apollo out of Earth orbit toward the moon.

The upcoming Saturn-1 shot will be the seventh in a series of 10 test launches. The first six have been successful and the last, on May 28, orbited an Apollo model similar to the craft to be lofted Friday.

37 Men Leave Burning Ship, All Are Safe

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (UPI) — Thirty-seven men who abandoned a burning freighter in the Atlantic ocean were reported safe aboard another ship today.

"All hands accounted for. Vessel burning fiercely but looks like will stay afloat," the rescue ship, the freighter La Pintada from Panama City, radioed the coast guard last night.

The men left the 13,700-ton freighter, Globe Explorer, in lifeboats and rafts. She was carrying 20,000 tons of coal. Seas were relatively calm. The ship was 360 miles southeast of New York.

The suit was filed by several residents living in the area of the 400 block of north Fifteenth. They sought to prevent construction of a funeral home in that block by Jack Henderson. Henderson received permission from the city to build the funeral home. The case was tried without a jury before Anderson yesterday.

BLACKFOOT, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Eastern Idaho state fair officials closed livestock entries before judging began here this week. But 10 animals slipped in since the deadline. Eight pigs and two calves were born since the fair opened, the livestock chairman reported today.

BOISE, Sept. 12 (UPI)—The bureau of reclamation will sponsor a three-day irrigation conference for water district managers and officials of western states opening Tuesday. About 210 persons are expected from the Northwest, British Columbia, California, Utah and Arizona. Purpose of the conference is to promote better water management in the Northwest.

POCATELLO, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Dean of women Clara Otness of Idaho state university is resigning effective Nov. 30 after nine years in the post and 34 years of service in Idaho education. She said she plans to rest and travel but will return to Idaho and hopes "that in the future I may have another opportunity to serve the university." Miss Otness took the post in 1955 after 23 years as dean of girls at Boise senior high school and two years as head resident at a Washington State university dormitory.

BOISE, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie yesterday proclaimed Sept. 13-19 as women voters week in Idaho, urging a special effort to get women registered. He also proclaimed the following week as constitution week, noting that 1964 marks the 177th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution.

BOISE, Sept. 12 (UPI)—A labor department sponsored conference on employe benefit plans is scheduled in Boise Oct. 21 for southwest Idaho and eastern Oregon. It is aimed at helping administrators of private welfare and pension plans comply with reporting and bonding requirements of the welfare and pension plans disclosure act.

IDAHO FALLS, Sept. 12 (UPI)—The atomic energy commission today reported that concentration of radioactive material around the national reactor testing station is well under minimum safety standards. Its report was based on a study the first six months of the year of samples of air, water and milk collected at stations around the installation. Minimum standards are set by the federal radiation council.

SUN VALLEY, Sept. 12 (UPI)—The trucking industry has been warned by the executive director of the western highway institute that it will face new tax demands in the near future. Jesse Rosenberg addressed the annual convention of the Idaho Motor Transport association at a luncheon session.

POCATELLO, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Revised quality standards for varieties of wheat grown in the Northwest will come under discussion at a special meeting scheduled for Sept. 23 in Pocatello, Herschel B. Ellis, grain inspection area supervisor for the agriculture department's marketing service in Portland, said the meeting has been called to familiarize wheat growers with the new standards.

POCATELLO, Sept. 12 (UPI)—An invitation to veterans of the attack on Pearl Harbor to join a Pearl Harbor Survivors association being chartered in Idaho has been extended by Harold F. Beebe, Pocatello, state chairman. Beebe said more than 500 survivors of the Dec. 7, 1941, attack now live in Idaho. He said the association will be organized as a non-profit veterans organization and will be patterned after similar chapters throughout the country.

BOISE, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie today said the federal communications commission should prohibit the Democratic national committee from further use of a controversial television spot commercial. National GOP chairman Dean Burch objected to it yesterday, saying it shows a little girl picking daisies, then a nuclear blast and a plea for reelection of President Johnson.

IDAHO FALLS, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Sen. Len B. Jordan, R., Ida., was honored at an informal breakfast here this morning and reiterated his support for an enlarged Lynn Crandall dam below Palisades dam on the Snake river, 30 miles east of Idaho Falls. Jordan and his administrative assistant, John Martin, came to Idaho while there is a brief lull in congress.

POCATELLO, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Idaho State university officials are preparing for a record enrollment this week, but an increase in total of students tells only part of the story of a rapidly-changing institution. An estimated 4,600 students will enroll Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Although a critical housing shortage has limited anticipated enrollment, 4,000 would still be about 400 more students than last year's record.

President Johnson to Get Report on Shooting Soon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (UPI) — Chief Justice Earl Warren said today it is a good bet that his investigating commission will send to President Johnson next week its 700-page report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Other sources estimated the White House may issue the findings on the Sept. 27 weekend, but some predicted the tasks of final editing, printing and binding could take a little longer.

Warren told reporters, after a week of night-and-day labor by the seven investigators, that the completion of editing and revising is now "a matter of days" but that public distribution is up to the White House.

"I hope it will be very soon," Warren said. "We're just driving to get it all done . . . Our job is completed when we report to the President."

Persons having business in the well - guarded headquarters of the presidential commission are being handed a hard-bound blue volume, bearing the presidential seal in gold and the title:

"The President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy—Report."

But it is just a printer's dummy. All the pages are blank. When they are filled in they will disclose "some surprises," according to well-posted sources, but no substantial evidence to dispute the earliest findings of federal agents—that:

—Lee Harvey Oswald, unstable Marxist and steady marksman, shot John F. Kennedy dead in Dallas, Tex., last Nov. 22 without coconspirators or helpers, here or overseas.

—Jack Ruby, convicted murderer of Oswald, acted in outraged grief in what he conceived to be an agent of retribution, and thus unthinkingly killed all hopes of an Oswald confession.

The commissioners are described as deeply conscious of the historical significance and international impact of their findings. They have written an exhaustive analysis, it was reported, of speculation and rumors about a right-wing plot in the United States or a communist conspiracy abroad.

Much of the delay in completion of the report since the original target date—June 30—is said to have resulted from painstaking efforts to make sure that each such report is traced down and the rebuttals amply documented.

Copies of the report will be bound in paper as well as hard covers, and will be available for public sale by the government printing office.

Encephalitis Cases Are Running Higher

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 12 (UPI) — Cases of encephalitis are running more than double last year's rate, according to a report by the U. S. public health service.

The report issued yesterday said there have been 2,705 cases so far this year.

Two epidemics in the Houston and Plainview, Tex., are contributing to the rise in cases. There have been scattered outbreaks in Illinois, Colorado and Kentucky as well.

Encephalitis is an inflammation or irritation of the brain sometimes called sleeping sickness because of the symptoms it produces.

"New Eyes for Needy" to Begin Work in T.F. Soon

"New Eyes for the Needy," a non-profit volunteer organization sponsored by Alpha Delta Kappa, a teachers' honorary, will begin its work soon.

Wilma Eaton, state president of Alpha Delta Kappa and dean of girls at O'Leary junior high school, said one week would be set aside for the collection of materials, about the first of October.

To provide glasses for the needy this group solicits metal frames in any condition, unbroken plastic frames, with or without lenses, sun glasses, artifical eyes, cataract lenses, soft cases, hearing aids and precious metal scrap such as old watches, broken or out-dated jewelry, dentures with bits of gold, damaged silver, etc.

These materials are refined or redistributed. The funds secured from the refined materials are used to provide glasses for all people of all ages and also to build centers for the dissemination and channeling of the goods.

The Twin Falls high school district has approved this project and the teachers' honorary hopes to be able to build a local center.

More than 4,000 people have been helped by New Eyes for the Needy, Inc. Funds for the purchase of new prescription glasses and artificial eyes have been established in 90 hospitals and agencies in 28 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Haiti.

The 12 Idaho chapters of Alpha Delta Kappa are supporting this statewide program.

Sen. Church Gets Strong Criticism

BOISE, Sept. 12 (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D., Ida., has come under strong criticism from state Republican chairman John McMurray for his vote against a measure that would delay the effect of federal court reapportionment decisions.

McMurray said Church's vote was "an insult to the citizens of Idaho and the nation" and that the Idaho senator "has once again demonstrated his disregard for the rights of the states."

"He even opposes giving us, the American people, an opportunity to amend the constitution and reverse a supreme court edict which dictates to the states the organization of their own legislatures," said McMurray.

Church said he believes the voters of the state should have the right to decide by popular referendum the question of legislative apportionment.

He said he would support a constitutional amendment that would accomplish that objective, but opposes an amendment sponsored by Sen. Everett Dirksen, R., Ill., which would let the states apportion one house on a non-population basis and bar federal court interference.

PIG REPORT

LONDON, Sept. 12 (UPI)—The pig industry development authority has released a pig population report. The authority said the number of pigs going for bacon and pork in England and Wales last year rose from 5,231,000 in June, 1963, to 5,762,000 this past June.

Airliner Is Delayed by Pay Dispute

PRESTWICK, Scotland, Sept. 12 (UPI)—A U. S. jet airliner with 100 passengers aboard was impounded for more than an hour today in a dispute over alleged non-payment of a $2,000 debt.

Bewildered passengers watched from the giant DC8 of capital international airways as the pilot, Capt. William Reid, argued on the apron with an attorney, a travel agent who claimed the debt, and two sheriff's officers.

Seventy-five minutes later, when the travel agent accepted promise of payment from the airline's London representatives the aircraft left for Detroit.

The impoundment order was believed to be the first of its kind issued against a civil airline in Britain.

Quints to Be Year Old Soon, Things Are Back to Normal

ABERDEEN, S. D., Sept. 12 (UPI) —Mr. and Mrs. Andy Fischer's quints will be one year old Monday.

In the pre-dawn hours of Saturday, Sept. 14, 1963, Mary Ann Fischer gave birth to four tiny girls and a boy. Within hours the Fischers and their famous five were known around the globe. The prairie town of Aberdeen became the crossroads of the heartstrings of the world.

The Fischer five — Mary Ann, Mary Magdalene, Mary Catherine, James Andrew and Mary Margaret — were the only quintuplets to survive in the United States.

The quints' birthday anniversary isn't the biggest news around the Fischer household. Andy and Mary are expecting another baby. It is due any day now.

A year and a day ago, Andy and Mary Ann Fischer were much like any other young couple with a growing family. They lived modestly on the outskirts of Aberdeen. Andy worked as an $80-a-week wholesale grocery clerk. Mary Ann took care of their five youngsters, Daniel Patrick, 8, Charlotte Ann, 7, Julie Renee, 6, Evelyn Kate, 4, and Denise Joyce, 3.

Then it happened.

On the morning of Sept. 11, Mary Ann went into St. Luke's hospital for a checkup because she had had some trouble during this pregnancy. That afternoon, her doctor, general practitioner James Berbos, called Andy at work. He told him he had something to tell him and to sit down.

The Fischers had suspected multiple births. Mary Ann's weight had gone from 140 to 190 during her pregnancy. But they were unprepared for Berbo's disclosure that five babies were on the way.

Three days later, in the seventh month of her pregnancy, the quints arrived—Mary Ann, tiniest and weakest, at 1:58 a.m.; Mary Magdalene, at 2:03 a.m.; Mary Catherine, at 2:14 a.m.; James Andrew, at 2:30 a.m. and lastly, Mary Margaret, the biggest, at 3:01 a.m.

Perhaps the first few days were hardest for Andy Fischer. Reporters from across the nation swarmed to Aberdeen and many more used their phones to penetrate into the city. Fischer quickly hired a law firm to guide him.

But if the Fischers thought life would ever return to normal they were wrong.

The people of Aberdeen — a "large" city for South Dakota with 23,000 population and best known as being in some of the best pheasant hunting country in the world—made plans to build the Fischers a new home.

A bill was introduced in the senate to exempt the Fischers from income tax. Andy's boss at Nash-Finch Wholesale grocery said he could take his time in getting back to work.

The Fischers moved out of the gray-stucco two-story farmhouse they had been renting. They moved into a split-level home in Aberdeen until the new house was completed.

Overnight it became the city of quints. Lying on the flat expanses of the Dakota grass country, it touted itself as the home of the Fischer's — in sign, in sticker, in conversation.

The state highways department made plans to build better roads past the Fischer home.

A year later, the Fischers are getting accustomed to the fame they captured.

They're still living in the home into which they moved until the house is completed. Andy is back at his job at the wholesale grocery store, and occasionally, though less often than he used to, stops off for a drink on the way home.

Mary Ann goes shopping for the children — and bowling, too. This spring she turned up at a tournament in Minneapolis as the captain of her Aberdeen team.

So, the routine is fixed and somewhat removed from the world. But nothing can stand in the way of life, and soon the Fischers' way of life will be interrupted again by a baby.

Or two? or three? or four? or five?

Late

DALLAS, Sept. 12 (UPI)—A little lamb may have followed Mary to school in the nursery rhyme, but Texas isn't sheep country.

A pony with a blue ribbon around its neck showed up outside a grade school here yesterday. "We turned him away," said the principal. "He was a day late for enrollment."

Autos Collide Near Burley

BURLEY, Sept. 12 — Calvin Scheivost, 30, 120 West Fifth street, Burley, was cited for failure to yield the right of way after a two-car collision at 12:20 p.m. Saturday one mile west of Burley on highway 30.

The 1962 Chevrolet he was driving west on highway 30 collided with a 1964 Chevrolet operated by Charles E. Manners, 30, 2300 Conant drive, Burley, as Scheivost turned left into the parking lot of the Beeline service station.

Manners, who was traveling east on the highway, told officers he applied his brakes to avoid the collision. State Patrolman Charles Pough investigated, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Dick Schlund.

Passengers in Scheivost's care were Elaine Krauss, 36; Sammy Krauss, jr., 11; Katherine Floyd, 17; Dick Floyd, 10, all 120 West Fifth street.

The occupants were treated at Cassia Memorial hospital and released. Manners incurred facial lacerations.

MAKES BIG IMPRESSION

EASTBOURNE, England, Sept. 12 (UPI) — David John Epps was in jail here for making too deep an impression. The 22-year-old Epps is charged with trying to strangle a female acquaintance. Said Epps in his defense: "I only gripped her round the throat. I did it to impress her because she would not go out with me."

British Girl Is Serious After Mishap

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 12 (AP)—The 21-year-old daughter of a British carpet magnate was in serious condition today at a Salt Lake City hospital after surgery for injuries suffered in a Colorado automobile accident.

The young woman, Margot Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Lord, suffered head injuries and possible fractures of the right leg, a hospital spokesman said.

Mrs. Lord chartered an airplane to fly her daughter from Rangely district hospital in extreme northwestern Colorado to Holy Cross hospital in Salt Lake City yesterday.

Miss Lord, a University of Colorado student from London, lost control of her British-made (1964 Triumph) sports car early Wednesay on U.S. highway 40 about 16 miles from Rangely.

Sheriff E. W. Long said the car apparently skidded off the road for 200 feet, swerved back onto the road for another 200 feet and overturned twice.

Miss Lord was alone in the car.

8 Persons Die In Home Blaze

SPRINGHILL JUNCTION, N. S., Sept. 12 (UPI)—Eight persons—seven from one family — perished early today when flames swept through a one-and-a-half story wooden home.

The dead were identified as 36-year-old Laton Chisholm and his six children—Heather, 11, Margaret Lavoni, 10, Crystal Ann, 8, Thomas Duncan, 3, Robert, 2, and 6-months old Richard.

An eighth body found in the charred ruins of the home is believed to be that of 47-year-old Barney Fransic, a friend of Chisholm's.

Mrs. Chisholm survived because she had been taken to a hospital in Halifax Wednesday.

Local Man Asks if Voters Are Individuals or Sheep

Editor, Times-News.

Individual or sheep? Ask yourself which you really are!

Herbert Hoover once said, "It is a well known fact that man in mass does not think, he only feels."

The greatest tragedy of our time is not the cold-blooded assassination of a president before our eyes. It is the stupifying effect it has on our thinking that because he, by becoming a martyr has placed our whole rotten administration and state department beyond reproach, and their ruthless politicians are playing upon our righteous anger and sympathy to blind our eyes to their past, present and future mistakes that are leading us down the road to communism and slavery.

Why haven't we the courage to analyze the mistakes of past and present administrations with impartial scrutiny and throw them out of office before they are able to sell us into communist slavery as they have already done with two-thirds of the world's surface.

When your children raise their eyes from the hell of a tortured communistic America to curse the memory of your unheroic lethargy, for swimming with the tide when you could have been a freedom fighter, you will have received your just dues.

Action of the series takes place in an atomic-powered submarine.

"No Time for Sergeants," (Premier, 7:30 p.m. ABC)—Another movie-based show this season, this series tells the comic misadventure of the air force's troubles with a boy from the farm, based on the smash hit play and movie which catapulted Andy Griffith to fame. But he's not in the series.

"Wendy and Me," (Premier, 8 p.m. ABC)—George Burns and Connie Stevens headline this new half-hour comedy show. Burns owns an apartment house and Wendy, along with her pilot husband, his girl-chasing co-pilot, live there and provide many of the comedy situations.

Freak Wreck Claims Life Of Teacher

WILDER, Sept. 12 (UPI) — A freak one-car accident near here claimed the life of a 30-year-old Wilder school teacher yesterday boosting Idaho's 1964 traffic fatality toll to 171, compared with 159 on this date a year ago.

Police said Natalia Knutsen was killed instantly when her car was crushed under an 8,000 gallon water tank which had fallen from its stand.

They said Miss Knutsen apparently lost control of her car which smashed into one of the braces supporting the tank causing it to fall.

The accident occurred near the intersection of state highway 19 and U. S. 95 about ½ mile south of Wilder near the Wilder labor camp. The water tank was used to store water for the camp.

Officers said the car was demolished and that they had to cut it open with acetylene torches to remove the woman's body.

Miss Knutsen was a native of Dillingham, Alaska, and had taught at Dubois before coming to Wilder at the start of the fall semester.

British Jets Fire Rockets At Hideouts

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia, Sept. 12 (UPI) — British Hunter jet fighters with rockets blazing blasted Indonesia paratrooper hideouts south of Kuala Lumpur today and Britain warned of possible retaliatory blows at Indonesia.

British air defenses were strengthened around Singapore, Malaysia's major port and naval base against the possibility of sudden air strikes from nearby Indonesia.

In Singapore, riot police and troops laid down a tear gas barrage and scattered 200 leftist demonstrators who were protesting the military draft. The police waded in with clubs and arrested 81 persons.

Six Hunter jets made repeated sweeps against Indonesia paratrooper positions near Labis 105 miles southeast of Kuala Lumpur, after eight Hunter jets rocketed the same area yesterday.

Gurkha troops from Nepal under British command and Malaysia soldiers hoped to flush out the remainder of a band of 40 paratroopers who were dropped Sept. 2. So far eight have been killed and at least 10 captured.

Attempt Will Be Stopped By Greeks

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Sept. 12 (UPI) — The Greek Cypriot government feared today to repel by force if necessary any Turkish attempt to land food for thin lands beleaguered Turkish Cypriot minority.

President Makarios warned last night that any attempt to land on the beaches would bring "the most grave consequences."

In Ankara, Turkish Defense Minister Ilhan Sancar announced that Turkish ships "probably" will sail for Cyprus on Tuesday.

He also said the supply ships will have a naval escort and air cover, but only as far as the limit of the Mediterranean island's territorial waters.

At issue is the plight of Turkish Cypriots in the Kokkina area of Cyprus on the northwestern coast. Greek Cypriots started throwing an economic blockade around Turkish Cypriot communities last month, but recent United Nations reports have indicated this has been eased.

Turkey has described the situation in Kokkina as "desperate."

Report Shows Idaho Health Is Adequate

RENO, Nev., Sept. 12 (UPI) — A preliminary report released by the Western States commission on higher education said today that Nevada, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho have adequate health resources at present.

However, the study said that unless the supply of doctors increases faster the present system will not be enough due to the population explosion.

Dr. Fred Anderson, Reno, a regent of the University of Nevada, said Nevada medical students are "partially free loading" on other states in an interchange program.

He said under the present state-supported program, Nevada pays $2,000 per medical student toward tuition fees.

"However, it costs the school $4,400 for that student, whether or not he is a resident of the state where he is going to school or is a resident of Nevada.

"It is not unreasonable that Nevada should pay more than $2,000 for the student."

Natives of India Relax at City Park in Twin Falls

Enjoying the Twin Falls city park Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Debdas Mukerjee and son, Shaibal, 2, Salt Lake City, Utah.

The Mukerjees, formerly of India, left Salt Lake City early Friday morning and stopped at the park for lunch en route to the West Coast.

"We like your city very much," Dr. Mukerjee said. "This is a very nice park."

Dr. Mukerjee and his wife came to the United States seven years ago. After he had received his master's degree from the University of Calcutta, Calcutta, India, he attended medical school at the University of Kentucky, where he was awarded his doctorate.

In 1963 they moved to Salt Lake City, where he is employed in the department of surgery at the Salt Lake General hospital. This hospital works in connection with the University of Utah.

The Mukerjees plan to go to Corvallis, Ore.; San Francisco, Calif., and complete their trip at Lake Tahoe.

Showdown on Contracts Is Started

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (UPI) — The United Auto Workers and Ford begin laying the groundwork today, for showdown bargaining sessions that should result in a three-year contract for 160,000 workers.

The pattern for the new pact already has been set at Chrysler corporation, but UAW President Walter P. Reuther said yesterday he expected Ford to do even better for its workers. The 54-cent an hour package negotiated with Chrysler included a provision for pensions up to $400 a month for some workers.

Ruther and Ford labor relations Vice President Malcolm L. Denise said after the opening sessions yesterday that union and company representatives would meet during the week-end and review the details of the settlement at Chrysler.

Reuther said he asked technicians to begin immediately to work out item by item costs on the benefits the union seeks so that bargaining can progress swiftly once Ford agrees to a price. But, Reuther said, the company declined to discuss specifics.

Both Reuther and Denise expressed hope that negotiations would be speedy and peaceful. Denise said it was agreed that both sides should try to "march right through and get it done."

Freight Halted When Wheels Are Damaged

LARAMIE, Wyo., Sept. 12 (UPI) — Union Pacific freight was halted 27 miles north of here yesterday when a set of wheels on a freight car was damaged.

Ed Schaffer, a UPI spokesman in Omaha, Nebr., said one set of tracks in the lookout area was blocked while workmen repaired the freight car, but passenger traffic was diverted onto a parallel track.

The train was halted when a heavy bar of zinc apparently crashed through the floor of the car, damaging the wheels.

There were no injuries.

Merit Tests For Advisers Are Opened

Competitive merit examinations for employment security counselors to fill vacancies in youth centers and state offices were announced Saturday by the Idaho Merit System council.

Applicants for youth adviser, employment counselor interne and employment consultant must be received or postmarked before midnight Oct. 2. The adviser would work with disadvantaged youths to encourage them to come into a center for assistance.

Under supervision the employment counselor would train on-the-job for specialized work in counseling individuals with job choice and changes or adjustment problems. The employment consultant would, under supervision, interview applicants seeking employment and obtain and record necessary information.

Information concerning qualifications for these jobs and applications is available at the local employment security agency office or interested persons can write to Thomas H. Charrey, merit system supervisor, box 987, Boise.

Firm, Union Hopes to End Strike

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 12 (UPI) — Kennecott Copper corporation and the striking International Association of Machinists continued contract negotiations today in hopes of completely ending a 75-day walkout at the firm's Utah installations.

However, the talks resumed in a pessimistic atmosphere.

S. Lyle Johnson, federal mediation commissioner, said, "We have reached an apparent impasse." He noted there were several unresolved issues between the company and union.

At the same time, J. P. O'Keefe, general manager of the Utah Copper division, termed the union's demands "costly and unreasonable" and said they could not be granted "in fairness to other unions."

The dispute is over local issues. O'Keefe said the company and (IAM) negotiators have signed an overall economic package settlement.

O'Keefe pledged that negotiations would continue, but added: "Unless the IAM officials reappraise their position in light of other settlements in Utah, and withdraw their demands for preferential treatment, no early resumption of full-scale operations is in sight."

About 5,000 Kennecott employees have not returned to work because of IAM pickets at the mine and concentrator. Some 2,000 workers at the refinery and smelter returned to their jobs during the past week. But O'Keefe warned that unless a settlement is reached with the machinists in the coming week it will be necessary to close down the smelter and refinery for lack of concentrates.

COEUR D'ALENE, Sept. 12 (UPI) —John Bertsch, 7, Coeur d'Alene, was killed this afternoon after he pulled the heavy drop gate of a horse trailer down on his head. He was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Ladies Will Help Boost Campaigns

BOISE, Sept. 12 (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Hubert Humphrey will boost the campaigns of their husbands with a conference telephone call to Democratic women leaders in Idaho and other states Monday.

Mrs. Bert E. Miller will take the call for Idaho at Boise.

The call by the first lady and the wife of the Democratic vice presidential nominee will initiate their nationwide "Tell-A-Friend" campaign to urge citizens to participate in the 1964 presidential election.

Mrs. Miller and her counterparts in the other states will be asked to call or write 10 friends who, in turn, will each make 10 calls to provide a multiplying chain of contacts to get all citizens registered and to the polls on Nov. 3.

Rocket Shot Is Postponed

WHITE SANDS, N. M., Sept. 12 (UPI)—A scheduled night firing of an Athena test rocket from Green River, Utah, to White Sands missile range was postponed last night due to bad weather.

The air force rocket was to have been fired between 9 p.m. and 1 a.m. The attempt to complete the first night firing of the rocket has been postponed several times in the past. The firing over the 450-mile distance has been rescheduled for between 8 p.m. and midnight Monday.

A spokesman at White Sands said the weather over much of the flight area was stormy. He said rain was falling hard at the missile range.

One Athena has made a successful daytime flight from Green River to White Sands. Two other Athenas veered off course and crashed, one near Durango, Colo.

3-Judge Panel Rules on Utah's Reapportion Act

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 12 (UPI)—A three-judge federal panel ruled today that Utah's 1963 legislative reapportionment act was unconstitutional.

The decision, in effect, ordered the 1965 legislature to reapportion on a population basis in line with recent U.S. supreme court decisions.

The three judges also retained jurisdiction over the case, so they may decree court reapportionment if the legislature fails to adopt a satisfactory plan.

John M. Rutter, board chairman, said Dr. Packer will arrive here Wednesday to make housing arrangements. Rutter said it is anticipated that Dr. Packer will have his offices in the Blaine County Hospital building.

His wife, their six children and maid will arrive as soon as housing is procured.

Dr. Packer will replace Dr. Grant A. Hawkes, who served the community for 14 years and who left with his family Sept. 1 for Granger, Utah, where he is affiliated with a larger hospital.

County PTA Workshop Is Set Sept. 25

RUPERT, Sept. 12—Plans were made to hold a legislative workshop for all PTA units in the county Sept. 25 when the Minidoka County PTA council met Friday afternoon at the Memorial elementary school.

The meeting is scheduled to be held at Minico with the state senator and representative from Minidoka county, as well as candidates for the offices on both tickets asked to present their stand on education.

A panel discussion will be held during the workshop with Doyle Lowder, assistant superintendent of schools, as moderator.

Mrs. LaRue Cheney, president of the county council, stated the basic purpose of the PTA is to help enact adequate legislation for better education and urged cooperation from all PTA units in helping to make the meeting a successful one.

Laurellee Berg, a graduate of Minico last year, was presented a $100 scholarship award from the council and will receive an additional $100 if she completes a year of schooling.

Miss Berg plans to attend Ricks college, Rexburg, where she will major in education.

Mrs. Cheney announced the state PTA convention will be held in November at Pocatello and asked all units in the county to send delegates.

A PTA workshop with the theme "Know-How Pow Wow" for all executive members and chairmen of the local units will be held Sept. 22 in the band room at Minico, Mrs. Cheney announced.

Registration will be held at 7:45 p.m. Groups will divide for departmental work and a social hour will conclude the workshop. The Paul and Acequia PTAs were asked to assist on the registration and refreshment committees.

Mrs. John Wise, vice president of the council, reported the county school board meets on the second Tuesday of each month at the central school office. She urged all PTA units to send representatives to each meeting.

The advisability of holding a harvest vacation this year is in question and PTA representatives could represent their various areas on the question at the meeting, it was pointed out.

Mrs. Cheney urged all units to secure a budget-finance chairman and to present a budget at their first PTA meeting so that it could be approved. Otherwise, she pointed out, each bill will have to be approved before payment can be made.

It was pointed out that school buses would not be allowed to back up on any public maintained road, and the law is being enforced.

If parents wish buses to come into an area to pick up a child they must provide a gravel turn around. If a bus is backed onto a yard the owner must assume the responsibility.

Doyle Lowder reported 4,076 children are enrolled in public schools in the county. Of this number, 1,543 are enrolled at Minico high school. Enrollment in the county has increased 202 children in average daily attendance over last year.

Officers of the council were introduced and include Mrs. Fred Grosche, vice president; Mrs. Wise, second vice president; Mrs. Merlin Kay, secretary; Mrs. Clarence Gibson, jr., treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Schenk, historian.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. Richard Ashcraft, membership; Mrs. Al Ralls, hospitality; Mrs. George Grant, budget and finance; Mrs. Elmore Plocher, congress publications; and Mrs. N. A. Douglass, publicity.

United Fund Aids YWCA In Its Programs, Facilities

The Twin Falls YWCA, in order to function in a growing capacity, finds that financing their program and facilities is next to impossible without aid from the United Fund.

Classes offered by the YWCA are bridge lessons, art, sewing, knitting, ceramics, gymnastics, creative dramatics, interior decorating, furniture refinishing and babysitting course.

Clubs are being developed for women who feel the "Y" is a place to make new friends and share ideas. Some clubs are for young married women with pre-school children, nursery facilities are made available for them. Women with older children have special interest groups. Also is a place for widowed or divorced women who find a real need for understanding and friendship. Two home demonstration clubs are in operation through the "Y" for women interested in this phase of group work.

The singles has been a most changeable but long organized group. Men and women 18-35 get together for an evening of games, dancing and refreshments.

Y Teen clubs are working for the YWCA by taking on special projects for world fellowship and national YWCA week.

All of these before mentioned programs and classes are functioning in the new "Y" building. A large per cent of the United Fund allocation goes toward the maintenance of this building plus needed materials for our clubs and classes. The "Y" building is open to anyone regardless of race, color or creed. It operates for the betterment of citizenship on the part of local and area citizens.

Their allocation is supplemented by membership dues and classes fees to provide a well-rounded program for women and girls. With a successful United Fund campaign the YWCA does not have an independent fund raising drive.

Research Is Completed by T.F. Student

William D. Ellis, son of Mrs. Evelyn Ellis, 1328 Seventh avenue east, has completed a summer of advanced chemical research at Occidental college, Los Angeles, Calif., under the sponsorship of the National Science foundation.

Ellis, a senior chemistry major at Occidental, was chosen for research training because of outstanding achievement in his elementary laboratory work. While a sophomore, he devised a new technique for an experiment in organic chemistry and with a minimum of direction from the professor, developed it so that his results were published by the "Journal of Chemical Education."

Ellis's investigations this summer were deep enough to serve as the basis for two chemical research papers which have been submitted for publication in leading chemical journals, a highly unusual record for an undergraduate.

He intends to obtain a doctorate in organic chemistry after his graduation from Occidental next June.

Social Hour Is Highlight of Premiere Performance in Buhl

BY RONNIE BURNS

BUHL — A unique surprise was in store for first-night theatergoers attending the premiere performance of "The Bourgeois Gentleman," a classic comedy stage production presented by the newly formed Antique Festival Theater players at the Ramona theater, Buhl.

In addition to being delightfully entertaining with the cultural classic, written by France's famed 17th century comic playwright Moliere, the audience was invited at the conclusion of the three-act play to come on stage to meet and get acquainted with the performers.

As no social hour is complete without refreshments, the cast brought forth punch and cookies which were served to all in attendance. When the invitation was first extended, looks of amazement were clearly visible. It took a moment or two before the audience recovered from astonishment.

Then they eagerly went on stage to congratulate their favorite stars. In keeping with the festive mood, performers still in costume and make-up, joined the production crew in assisting with serving.

An insight of the complexities of staging, costuming, make-up and all the work which goes into the making of a successful production were more clearly realized from the open house social event.

The excitement and glamour of opening night was projected by the spontaneous gayety of the cast, and all performers whether they had a large or small part were eloquent in their respective roles, which brought forth warm response from the audience to the play and social hour that followed.

The background setting for the play was expertly carried out in the antique furnishings which graced the stage and portrayed a living room scene of the King Louis XIV reign. Lavish costumes of the 17th century, the era of lace, ribbons, buttons and bows, especially in men's dress, provided authenticity and color for the production and were most intriguing both on and off stage.

The most eye catching, typical costume of the period was worn by J. Paul Kliss in his role as the nobleman. His attire of white corduroy had a rich velvety appearance and featured short knee britches and a long waistcoat highlighted with silver brocade lapels and cuffs. The very full undershirt was accented with the fashionable lace and ruffles. A blue taffeta vest, white satin ascot tie, black medium heeled shoes trimmed with silver rosette bows, heels gaily painted red, and a black large brimmed hat with a colorful gold plume, completed his costume.

This was a very impressive costume, made by Mrs. Wilma Miller. The costume, along with the other costumes, will be used for the theater's permanent wardrobe.

Women's gowns of the era were more simple, yet graceful and elegant. Kaye Buck, as the rich aristocratic widow she portrayed, wore an outstanding creation of gold-colored taffeta, floor-length with a medium full skirt. The gown was designed with a fitted low bodice of black lace underscored with gold taffeta and highlighted with a flowing black lace train. Exquisite jewelry of antiquated appearance, a gold chain with rhinestone necklace and a rhinestone tiara added the proper adornment for a radiant appearance. Other costumes were outstanding and had to be seen to be appreciated.

"Antique" was appropriately selected to fit in the title of the newly established theatrical play group, as old and rare plays are to be selected for future stage productions.

This new venture, which originated here as the culmination of long range planning by Aldrich Bowler, a veteran of theater arts who also serves as producer and director for the festival theater, aspires to bring cultural entertainment to this area. In addition to this, it provides theatrical aspirants, actors, musicians, directors and dancers an opportunity to gain experience and training in the theater. As the theater becomes better established it is planned to give scholarships to interested and qualified students.

Bowler reported the Antique festival theater will begin the 1965 summer season around the middle of July and conclude around the first week in September. As a typical festival theater its project will be to present a repertoire of three plays, with a different one showing on three consecutive nights for the seven-week period.

All unproduced non-royalty plays will be selected for future productions. The plays will be basically classical and in addition to comic satires will include Shakespearean works and Greek classics.

Soybeans Are Higher on Trade Board

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Soybean futures closed the week more than three cents a bushel above last week's closing. Other cereal futures rose on the Chicago board of trade.

Compared to last Friday, soybeans were up 3 to 9⅝ a bushel; wheat up ⅜ to 2¼; corn up ⅝ to 2; oats up ¼ to 1¼; and rye up ⅛ to 1⅞.

Soybean prices advanced to the maximum limit of 10 cents for the day Friday on all contracts. The government crop report was much below general expectations and was similar to the low private estimate of last week. However, traders generally favored the buying side and shorts covered in the belief that all of the loss caused by the summer dry and hot spell has not been determined.

Corn trading was active Friday but the advance registered was curbed by the large volume of selling by longs. Prices declined Thursday after a firm start, apparently due to some doubt that the crop estimate would be as low as it turned out to be.

The wheat market ended the week quiet and firm, continuing a light trend.

The oat market began steady, eased and was more active Friday.

The rye trade also was quite and the market firm.

Auto Industry Contract Keeps Economy Roaring

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Chrysler corporation and the United Auto Workers union collaborated this past week to help keep the nation's economic engine roaring along.

While some felt that their new contract agreement involved a fuel mixture too rich for healthy operation, there was almost universal cheer that a strike had been avoided.

The agreement, announced a short time before the old contract ran out at 10 a.m. Wednesday, involved a package valued at between 53 and 57 cents an hour over a three-year span. That's the biggest boost in auto industry history.

The stock market reacted almost immediately with a strong spurt.

Steelmakers indicated that this almost assures an all-time record for that rebounding basic industry.

The settlement appeared to remove the chief obstacle to continuation of a record peacetime business expansion, now in its 43rd month.

However, after the first flush of satisfaction at averting a strike, questions about possible inflationary effects shot to the fore.

The settlement involved a wage increase of about 4.7 per cent, well above the 3.2 per cent guideline set by the President's council of economic advisers as noninflationary.

The union argues, however, that auto industry productivity has risen not by 3.2 per cent but by about 4.9 per cent and that the boost is therefore within the limits.

The council's position has been that inflation can be avoided if wage increases do not exceed increases in productivity or output per man-hour.

Yet to be seen is whether first-ranked General Motors and second-ranked Ford Motor company will match the Chrysler settlement in size and ease. The Ford contract expires Tuesday, and the GM contract expires Wednesday. A strike could develop from either negotiation.

Also in doubt is the direct effect of the Chrysler settlement, and other similar agreements by other makers, upon auto prices. First indications were that there would be no immediate boosts.

Economists also pondered the indirect effects of the settlement, wondering whether other unions might follow the Auto Worker's lead and seek fatter boosts in a way that could cause strife and inflationary pressure.

The pay rises themselves, going to 74,000 Chrysler workers retroactively to Sept. 1, will obviously have some influence on total spending pressure. But the immediate impact is diminished by the fact that much of the increase is in such fringe benefits as improved pension payments.

The Chrysler-UAW settlement overshadowed another labor agreement, one between the nation's biggest copper producer, Kennecott Copper company, and the United Steelworkers Union.

Kennecott had been shut down July 1, creating a very tight copper supply. It was estimated that the effects of that stoppage would be felt for several months more, but the copper industry was clearly cheered by the developments.

Just before, Kennecott and Anaconda Copper company had received good news in the form of the election in Chile of a moderate as president rather than of a Marxist who had pledged to nationalize foreign copper operations there. The two U.S. companies have major holdings in the Latin American country.

Other business news in the past week included reports showing business inventories had slipped in July, that individual savings had jumped, the introduction to trading of the space-age Communications Satellite corporation common stock on the New York stock exchange, and record sales by the world's biggest retailer, Sears Roebuck and company.

Stock Mart Moves Into High Ground

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (UPI)—The stock market moved into new high ground this week in one of its best performances since the rebound which followed President Kennedy's assassination last November.

The market started off the week following the three-day Labor day week-end by piercing the July 17 record of 85.35 in the Dow-Jones industrial average with a 3.60 gain on Tuesday.

Gains of 3.66 and 3.93 followed and the week was capped by a 7.63 advance in the blue chip indicator. When the dust had settled following Friday's late rally the senior average was up 16.82 on the week to a new peak of 867.13, 15.78 above the previous record.

However, some technicians were quick to point out that the average was greatly aided by a 17-point leap in DuPont, one of its components. They did concede that a review of the general list did show considerable strength and most went along with the indicated diagnosis.

Standard and Poor's more inclusive 500 stock index was also bullish. It rose 0.60 to 83.45.

The Dow theorists were well pleased to see the rail average move up 3.48 to 214.73, bringing it closer to the record high of 230.08.

They also were pleased to see volume hit 20,086,764 shares despite the fact that there were only four trading sessions. Volume totaled 21,310,154 shares last week and 27,783,440 shares in the same week last year. Of the 1,504 issues traded, 806 advanced, 180 to new 1964 highs while 523 declined, 35 to new lows.

In the futures, brokers continue to see still higher prices as third quarter earnings reports and an expected bumper crop harvest of increased dividends pour into the market. Forecasts of record auto production, steel output and price increases for a number of basic products also add fuel to the fires of the bullish camp.

Chrysler took trading honors, rising 3¾ to 63¼ on a turnover of 760,400 shares after it reached a contract agreement with the United Auto workers. It touched a new 1964 high of 63¼ during the week.

Pan American World airways was second with a gain of ⅞ to 29⅞ on 461,200 shares. Ford was third with a gain of 3⅛ to 56⅞ on 332,600 shares.

Anaconda took fourth place with a gain of 2⅝ to 49¼ following the favorable election results in the presidential balloting in Chile.

New, Larger Dodge Polara Is Unveiled

Dodge Saturday unveiled a larger Dodge Polara for 1965 with significant increases in passenger space and all-new styling to emphasize its greater length and width.

A "silencing package," to promote a softer and quieter ride; refinements for better steering action, added protection against body corrosion and larger windows for greater visibility have been built into Dodge's new 121-inch wheelbase models.

The Polara, formerly produced on a 119-inch wheelbase, will be introduced in its new size at public showings in all Dodge dealerships Sept. 25. Dodge Dart, Coronet and Custom 880 lines will be shown simultaneously.

The six models in the Polara line are a four-door sedan, two-door and four-door hardtops, a convertible and two four-door stationwagons—one for six passengers and one for nine passengers, with a rearward-facing seat.

"Each year more and more people who have been buying regular size cars are moving up to the more deluxe models which offer added size, convenience and comfort," Byron J. Nichols, Dodge general manager, said.

"The Polaris has been tailored to meet this demand," he added.

The styling emphasis on the length and width of the Polara models gives them a massive appearance.

Big tail lights, extending horizontally from the ends of the trunk lid face, widen gradually to the outer edge of the rear panels in a unique delta-like shape.

The added protection against body corrosion is accomplished with full front wheel housings, which shields the inner surface of the fenders against water, mud and also with galvanized inner and outer sills.

Fresh air ventilators, controlled by push-pull knobs beneath the instrument panel are built into the basic body structure and interior trim on the left and right sides just forward of the front door.

The automatic transmission is controlled by a lever mounted on the steering column. The illuminated gear position indicator is located on the instrument panel.

Probe Continues

BUHL, Sept. 12—Investigation is continuing today in the burglary of the Buhl Planing Mill where an electric drill and socket wrenches were stolen sometime late Thursday evening or early morning hours on Friday, reports Buhl Police Chief Charles Burbank.

Entrance was gained by removing an air conditioner situated in a window in the back of the building. Burglars apparently were only interested in tools, according to Burbank, as no money was taken and the safe was untouched.

Reception Set

SHOSHONE, Sept. 12—A PTA sponsored teacher's reception will be held at 7 p.m. Sept. 21 at the high school building, members of the executive board announce.

Mrs. Robert Ballard and Mrs. Jack Dunn are chairmen for the potluck dinner. Theme for the year "Educated Man" will be carried out during programs at PTA meetings by chairmen, Mrs. R. G. Nelter and Mrs. Joe Broyles.

Church Urges Group to Hike Quotas

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Sen. Frank Church, D., Ida., today said he has urged the administration to take the lead in recommending legislation to extend foreign quotas provided by the sugar act through 1965.

He also urged that such legislation allow beet and mainland cane areas the right to market in 1964 and 1965 the sugar produced in excess of quotas from the 1963 and 1964 crops.

He said discussions between beet sugar producers and cane sugar refiners seeking a voluntary agreement on plantings have broken down.

Beet sugar representatives, he said, made a generous offer to reduce plantings.

"But it now appears that the sugar refiners will not agree to anything less than a drastic and highly detrimental cutback which would cause extreme hardship to growers who have increased production in all good faith," said Church.

"The department of agriculture should be asked to put a ceiling on the 1965 beet and cane crop at the reduced levels agreed to by beet and mainland cane growers."

He said the administration should make a unified recommendation to congress. He said the 1964 wheat program showed the confusion that can follow congressional action close to planting times.

Burley Youth Is Cited in Crash

BURLEY, Sept. 11 — Ronald G. Johnston, 18, box 174, Burley, was cited for following too closely at 10:15 a.m. Thursday after a two vehicle accident at 14th street and Oakley avenue.

Harold W. Luke, 36, 370 East 27th avenue, Burley, was driving a 1964 Ford half-ton pickup truck owned by Mountain States Telephone company, Burley, north on Oakley avenue. As Luke slowed to stop, Johnston was unable to stop his 1963 Ford and it hit the left rear fender of the truck, police said.

Damage was set at $35 to the right front fender of the Johnston auto owned by Alton Johnston, Burley, and $25 to the left rear fender of the truck. Passengers in the truck was Bill Nelson, 1063 Poplar street, Twin Falls.

The accident was investigated by Burley police.

Enthusiastic

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 12 (UPI) — Charles Barnes, Jr., 17, a guard on the Harborcreek, Pa., high school football team, was enthusiastic last night about his team's first victory of the season.

So enthusiastic, in fact, that he dislocated his shoulder and broke the school's victory bell when he gave it a yank.

The youth also suffered facial cuts when a part of the bell broke off and struck him.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (UPI) — Stanley Heller and company notes a movement of investment funds into the more defensive shares, a move it feels reflects a growing apprehension that the post election market will have to evaluate a tightening of the money market.

However, the firm says that since the major technical barometers show no change in the long term bullish trend, it sees little need to shift any large percentage of investments into defensive shares.

Bache and company continues to recommend purchases of the better situated, fundamentally attractive issues.

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton and company feels the market is in a healthy condition from a technical viewpoint and that this may be one of those relatively infrequent election years when stock prices advance vigorously during the presidential campaign.

Morals Charge Hearing Waived

Roy Lynn Farmer, 19, 435 Third avenue west, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to Eleventh district court by Probate Judge Zoe Ann Warberg on charges of statutory rape.

Farmer, who is married, appeared in probate court Friday with an attorney and waived the preliminary hearing.

He was arrested last week by city police in the company of a 17-year-old Twin Falls girl.

Bond was set at $3,500 but was not posted.

Law Officers Search for Jailbreaker

BOSTON, Sept. 12 (UPI)—Police and FBI agents with riot guns and bullet-proof vests searched streets and backyards today for a wounded jailbreaker.

The fugitive, Richard A. Carignan, 30, shot it out yesterday with two federal agents after he and two other men made a daring, well-planned escape from the Charles street jail. The other men were recaptured quickly.

Authorities alerted hospitals and doctors to be watchful for Carignan, an accused bank robber, who suffered a leg wound in the shoot-out with the FBI men.

The other escapers were William E. Russell, 23, and Richard J. Powers, 30, both of Boston. Russell was apprehended hiding in some bushes at a nearby hospital and Powers was seized after a chase and struggle with police in the Roxbury district where the search for Carignan was centered today.

The three escaped from the jail after they went on sick call during a recreation period. Carignan suddenly pulled out a pistol he had concealed and they overpowered guard James McDermott and male nurse Owen Donahue.

One of the other two escapers was armed with a knife.

They used McDermott's keys to unlock several doors and used Donahue as a shield as they made their way to the main gate. Guard Ernest Smith, fearful that the men would kill Donahue if he disobeyed, opened the gate. They shoved Donahue aside and raced to freedom.

Group Will Intervene in Route Aid

BOISE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Chairman Glenn Lungren of the Governor's airline service committee today said it will intervene in support of a west coast or Bonanza airline route from the northwest to Las Vegas with a stop in Boise.

Both airlines have filed applications with the civil aeronautics board. Lungren said the committee has given notice that it supports the route.

The vote to intervene was taken Friday at a committee meeting in Moscow devoted largely to commercial airline problems of Moscow, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene.

Lungren said the committee is working for better service and schedules for Idaho communities and trying to keep them informed on developments that can affect their service.

He said the CAB is gradually withdrawing its subsidies to airlines to serve smaller communities like Moscow, and the airlines are turning more to traffic between larger cities. He said this is a serious problem for a state like Idaho with its long distance travel requirements.

He said the committee has contracted for a study of airport needs at Moscow.

Moscow has a problem because of its small field and Lungren said West Coast flights sometimes don't stop if there is questionable weather. He said bond issues to improve the field have failed twice.

Lungren said Lewiston has hired a new airport manager who is trying to sell the public on the need for improvements, and Coeur d'Alene is working on navigational aids and improved facilities to make it a better alternate for Geiger field at Spokane.

Lungren said the committee has reserved the right to intervene in the CAB's proposal that some flights from the northwest through Denver continue to the southwest, so passengers won't have to change planes. Lungren said the committee wants Boise included among the stops.

JEROME TIPS FILER; BUHL BLANKS VALLEY

Tigers Turn Six Wildcat Fumbles Into 26-7 Win

FILER, Sept. 12—The opportuning Jerome Tigers used fumbles and a pass interception as springboards for all their scoring last night and dropped the Filer Wildcats 26-7. Filer, which moved the ball well at times, fumbled on seven occasions and lost the ball six times.

The alert Jerome defense was paced by sophomore Vince Williams who recovered three of the miscues and returned a pass interception 41 yards. Filer's biggest moments were wrapped up in a 66-yard scoring dash by Larry Hepworth and later a 60-yard romp by Mike Touchette on a draw play.

Jerome's first chance came after the Tigers had received the opening kickoff and punted. Filer fumbled on its own 41-yard line. Dennis Stauffer got one key first down on a 13-yard romp and Steve Millard got another at the 12-yard line. Then on fourth and four, Millard took a handoff from Mel Tinker on a counter play and lunged over two Wildcats for the score.

The remainder of the half went in punt and fumble exchanging, both teams driving to the 10-yard line of the opponent before miscues.

Jerome had a golden opportunity when it recovered another Filer fumble at the Wildcats' 12-yard line. But the Tigers didn't watch the clock and they wasted 55 seconds getting off one gain-nothing play up the middle.

Vince Williams opened the second half with a bang, picking off a Steve Sharp swing pass and rambling to Filer's 16-yard line. Stauffe gained nine, Pat Williams one and then Millard scored again. Pat Williams added the first of two conversions.

Two plays after the ensuing kickoff, Hepworth came back on a quick opener and legged 66 yards for Filer's touchdown. Touchette plunged for the point after.

But Filer still wasn't over its fumbling. Late in the third quarter Jerome pounced on another fumble and on the first play Tinker faded to pass. He arched a long one to Pat Williams but Filer's Lloyd Garey appeared in good defensive position. Garey got his fingers on the ball but it ricocheted into Williams' arms and he lugged it down to the one-yard line. Tinker sneaked over on the next play.

Filer's last touchdown followed another fumble on the Jerome side of the 50-yard line. Millard and Stauffer took turns chopping out yardage through big holes in the line and in seven plays Stauffer bolted over from the three.

Camas County Smothers Dietrich

FAIRFIELD, Sept. 12 — Bill Bartholomew and Clinton Bartholomew and Clinton Ballard paced Camas County to a 39-13 victory Friday night as the Musher defense held the Dietrich Blue Devils to two touchdowns, one a 70-yard pass-run play.

The Blue Devils took their tallies on passes from Robert Jauregui, one to Ron Knowles and the other to Dave Weiss. Weiss scored the only extra point on a pass from Juaregui.

Bartholomew started the first, second and fourth quarters off with a touchdown and assisted in the final goal in the third with a pass to Ballard for 43 yards.

Bartholomew followed his tally in the first with a kick for the extra point and Joe Dickenson scored the only other touchdown of the period with a one-yard rush and gave the Mushers a 13-0 lead.

Bartholomew added to the lead with a two-yard touchdown in the second and Dennis Costella followed with the conversion. Costella passed to Jim Rice for the next tally, a 31-yard pass-run, and Joe Dickenson gave them the extra point and a 26-7 halftime lead.

The Mushers collected 22 more points in the second half.

Aussies Dim U.S. Davis Cup Dreams

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle smashed down the cream of America's talent with devastating tennis today and set up the seventh all-Australian men's final in the last nine years in the national championships.

The results threw a cloud of gloom over the United States' hopes of keeping the Davis cup against the challenging Aussies in the challenge round at Cleveland Sept. 25-27.

Stolle, a handsome, curly-haired stylist from Sydney, first completed a postponed five-set victory over Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 3-6, 14-7, then crushed defending titleholder Rafael Osuna, Mexico 6-3, 8-6, 6-3.

Emerson, a nut-brown Queenslander, who already has won the Australian and Wimbledon titles this year, moved closer to a rare triple slam by subduing Chuck McKinley, San Antonio, Tex, the United States' No. 1-ranked player, 7-5, 13-11, 6-4.

When the Davis cup is put on the line at Cleveland, McKinley and Ralston, who won it a year ago in Adelaide, will carry the full load against Emerson and Stolle. Prospects are far from bright.

Vic Seixas, the U.S. captain, admitted that he was concerned but not completely downhearted over the developments.

10th-Inning Homer Lets Detroit Win

DETROIT, Sept. 12 (AP)—Dick McAuliffe led off the 10th inning with a homer into the right field stands, giving Detroit a 6-5 victory over Washington today.

McAuliffe's blast was the second homer in two innings off reliever Jim Duckworth.

Norm Cash cracked a two-out homer off Duckworth in the ninth inning, tying the game 5-5.

Tiger Is Last TV Fight Victor

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12 (AP)—An era has ended for boxing on television but the future is a little brighter for former middleweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria.

Tiger won a unanimous decision last night over Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, in the finale of 20 years of the fight-of-the-week series. It was television's longest continuous network series.

The victory earned Tiger a shot at challenger Joey Archer for the right to meet middleweight champion Joey Giardello for the title.

CUT DOWN FROM THE SIDE, Castleford's Weiss is tackled by an unidentified Carey Panther at the end of a 12-yard end sweep during action Friday afternoon. The play was part of Castleford's lone touchdown drive as the Panthers, picking up their second straight, won the game 13-6 when Castleford had a touchdown nullified by a penalty. (Times-News photo)

Carey Outlasts Castleford for 13-6 Win

CASTLEFORD, Sept. 12—The Carey Panthers turned to the air for a pair of first half touchdown yesterday and then sent in the defensive crew to protect the lead as they defeated the Castleford Wolves 13-6 in a mixture of 11 and eight-man football.

Carey defended with 11 men and Castleford eight during the game that saw Carey dominate the first half and Castleford control most of the action in the final two quarters.

Carey started for its first touchdown in the opening quarter but the second period began before coach Wendell Wolf's charges could complete the 67-yard drive. The climax came on a swing pass from Lee Cook to Kenny Peterson on a play that covered 17 yards.

Four plays later the Panthers were poised again. They got a break when the Castleford punter fumbled the hike from center and Jerry Rudd broke in to nail him before he could recover in time to kick.

The opportuning Cook chose the next play to send state class B sprint champion Pat Briggs toward the goal line. Cook lofted a high pass that one Castleford defender had a shot at. But Briggs made a low snare at knee level at the goal line and fell in for the touchdown.

Castleford opened the second half by probing hard into Carey's line. The Wolves moved 65 yards with quarterback Gary West hitting on a pair of passes that overcame one 15-yard penalty. Dave Weiss got the touchdown on an eight-yard reverse run.

The Wolves made another bid midway through the fourth quarter and actually sent West into the end zone on a quarterback roll out. But the Wolves were penalized 15 yards on that play for illegal use of hands and the threat ended on the next play when sophomore Ed Green picked off a Castleford pass.

With Marty Farnsworth running well, Carey returned the ball to Castleford's five-yard line. Another 15-yard penalty killed that drive and the clock ran out with Castleford trying to get even with some long passes.

Red Devils Shut Out Bulldogs 24-0

KIMBERLY, Sept. 12 — Murtaugh's Red Devils stunned Kimberly with 24 first-half points last night and swept past the Bulldogs 24-0. It marked Murtaugh's first victory since 1961 in this traditional east-end rivalry.

Quarterback Alan Okelberry, who missed Murtaugh's first game with an injury, showed he was back early in the game when he hit Brian Ward with a 35-yard touchdown strike. Before the quarter ended Marv Greco swept end for 10 yards for the second Devil tally.

In the second quarter Graff hit paydirt on a 15-yard sweep and then Greco came back with a seven-yard scoring dash.

The Devils had trouble with extra points attempts, their first two kicks missing and Ken Harmony blocking the third. A pass attempt after the fourth touchdown also misfired.

U.S. Retains Curtis Cup, Tops British

PORTHCAWL, Wales, Sept. 12 (AP)—Carol Sorenson, Janesville, Wis., defeated Ruth Porter, 3 and 2, today and clinched the Curtis cup for the girl golfers from the United States in a frantic two-day struggle against Britain.

The United States finally took the trophy—its ninth success in 13 tries—by 10½ points against 7½ but the visitors weren't certain the trophy was theirs until the second last match.

The British women, given little chance even by their own followers surprised by holding the young Americans level in Friday's nine matches, 4½-4½ and sent the huge gallery buzzing in today's Scotch foursome by taking one match, halving another and losing the third.

That gave each team six points and set the stage for the singles duels of the afternoon round.

Beman Shoots For Third Amateur Title

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12 (AP) — Deane Beman, 26-year-old Bethesda, Md., insurance man, will try to do what only three other golfers have accomplished when he tees off Monday in the 64th U. S. amateur golf championships at Canterbury golf club.

He will be trying for his third USGA amateur championship.

The only men ever to win more than twice were Bobby Jones, who carried off the trophy five times between 1924 and 1930; Jerome D. Travers, who won four times from 1907 to 1913, and Walter J. Travis, who was a three-time winner starting in 1900.

Beman won the British amateur in 1959 and took his first U. S. championship the next year while still in college. He won again last year, defeating R. H. Sikes 2 and 1 in the final round at the Wakonda club in Des Moines, Ia.

Sikes later turned professional, like many other top pros who sparked as amateurs before joining the play-for-pay ranks.

Beman faces 149 other amateurs who qualified in regional tournaments at 34 sites across the nation earlier this month. Among the qualifiers is Bill Campbell, former Walker cup captain from Huntington, W. Va., who will be making his 21st try for the title.

Indians Bomb Chicago With 6-Run Inning

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12 (AP)—Vic Davalillo's bases-loaded single in the first inning highlighted a six-run outburst that propelled the Cleveland Indians to an 11-10 victory over the pennant-hopeful Chicago White Sox today.

The Indians started their smashing against Ray Herbert and went on to batter five pitchers for 17 hits and their biggest run output against Chicago this season while beating the White Sox for only the fifth time in 17 meetings.

Roman Brother Takes First Win Of Sweepstakes

SALEM, N.H., Sept. 12 (AP) — Roman Brother reached deep into his 880-pound frame today and came up with one mighty stretch surge for a narrow victory over Knightly Manner in the first running of the $144,820 New Hampshire sweepstakes at Rockingham park.

Odds-on-choice of the disappointing crowd of 17,781, the mighty mite from Louis E. Wolfson's Harbor View farm, came from last place on the back stretch, took the lead in the home lane and then beat back the challenge of Mrs. Henry Obre's Knightly Manner to pick up the purse of $94,133.

Chargers Edge Houston 27-21

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 12 (AP) — Quarterback Tobin Rote threw three touchdown passes tonight as the San Diego Chargers opened defense of their American Football league championship with a 27-21 victory over the Houston Oilers.

In the first half, Rote hit 5 out of 13. But he regained his control in the second half to hit end Don Norton with a 10-yarder and flanker Lance Alworth for 27 yards.

The Charger defense stopped three Oiler drives in the last quarter, but yielded in the final three minutes. Houston's Bob Jackson scored from the 1 with two seconds to play.

Fischer gave up a run in the first inning on Vada Pinson's single following a walk, sacrifice and wild pitch. But he settled down and recorded his 11th victory against nine defeats.

Regulars Nip Reserves in ISU Game

POCATELLO, Sept. 12 (AP)—The regulars whipped the reserves 21-0 here today in Idaho State university's traditional black and white game, but Coach Babe Caccia was encouraged most by the showing of several second-team backs.

Al Jocobson, Steve Kuharski, Don Neves and Otha Roberts, four performers who have yet to make any headlines, ran and blocked well enough to earn Caccia's enthusiastic plaudits.

Speedy Bill Harvey got away for an 85-yard touchdown on a punt return, and fullback Cliff Chilton burst away on another 55-yard scoring jaunt as the regulars scored all their points in the third period. Jim Roberts crashed over from the three-yard line for the other score.

For the other three quarters, the reserves held their own. Neves directed the offense effectively, and Jacobson and Roberts gained 96 and 76 yards, respectively.

All told, it was enough to make Caccia smile with the opener against Omaha university a week away.

The team was given Sunday off, and practice sessions will be reduced to one a day this week.

Caccia said major attention would be paid to devising a defense against Omaha, which whipped the Bengals 19-6 last year.

Stolen Pass and Fumble Net 14-0 Indian Decision

BUHL, Sept. 12—A fumble and an intercepted pass set up both Buhl touchdowns last night as the Indians defeated the Valley Vikings 14-0 in a basically on-the-ground contest. The Vikings threatened only once—when they forged to within 23 yards of the Buhl goal.

Both teams played rather ragged ball with play studded with fumbles, penalties and intercepted passes.

The first Indian tally came in the first quarter when Lupe Torres handed off to Ron Cline and Cline fumbled. Stormy Hopple recovered the fumble, giving the ball to Buhl on the Viking 20-yard line. The Indians completed the two first and ten drives, moving to the seven-yard line. David Hendrix drove to the five and quarterback Clark Griffin carried it for the remainder.

After the teams traded possession three times, the Indians took a punt on the Viking 40. After an unsuccessful pass by Griffin they lost five yards to an illegal procedure penalty. Hendrix then took a pass from Griffin for 10 and added three more running, leaving only two yards to go for the first and 10. Randy Baxter gave the first down a try on a handoff from Griffin but was stopped a few inches short.

The Vikings took over at the 50 and drove to the Buhl 23 on three plays but Torres was stuck with four incomplete passes and gave the ball back to the Indians. Valley got a second-chance minutes later on an intercepted pass. The Vikings drove from the 40 almost to the 25 but again were stopped when Griffin intercepted a Torres pass at the five just seconds before the half-time buzzer sounded.

Torres took the kick-off on the 10-yard line and forged his way along the foul line to the 35 and then took the Vikings to the Buhl 32 with a hard-to-stop ground attack. After gaining six yards toward another first down Hendrix intercepted Torres' first pass of the half and the Indians took the ball on their own 32-yard line.

After a gain of seven yards and a 15-yard penalty against the Vikings, Hendrix took a handoff from Griffin 48 yards for the final touchdown and the extra point.

This left only a minute and a few seconds in the third quarter and neither team got within striking distance for the remainder of the game.

Pirates Roll Over Young Trojans 51-7

HAGERMAN, Sept. 12 — The Hagerman Pirates, paced by Dave Glauner's 19-point effort, belted the young and inexperienced Raft River 51-7 last night.

Glauner, a 165-pound junior fullback, picked up three touchdowns and an extra point while his classmate, halfback Alan Boyer, added two six-pointers and one conversion.

Doyle Pugmire and Greg Gaston ran across touchdowns for the Pirates and Hagerman's longest scoring play was a 47-yard pass from Terry White to Jerry Laughlin. Mike Tupper joined the scoring parade by getting one point-after.

Raft River prevented the shutout when sophomore tailback Dana Tracey got the touchdown and extra point.

Pilots Erupt In Last Half To Top Melba

GLENNS FERRY, Sept. 11 — Glenns Ferry broke open a slambag defensive battle with a pair of third quarter touchdowns last night and defeated Melba 27-0.

A fumble put Melba in the hole with less than a minute gone in the game and the third district crew didn't get out until the Pilots finally scored midway through the second period.

The fumble occurred the first play after the kickoff when Melba tried to pass, was hit and Rose gained possession on the 10-yard line. Melba held, but could go nowhere.

Glenns Ferry finally scored on a two-yard plunge by Ernie Johnson and a pass from Jim Blair to Terry Sims got the point-after.

In the third quarter Jim Schwager broke off tackle and rambled 35 yards and before the period ended the Pilots scored on a forward pass and lateral play. Later Blair hit Sims with a 15-yard aerial and Sims lateralled to Johnson, who scampered another 35.

A Blair to Johnson pass, for 30 yards, got the final touchdown with Don Helwich converting.

The game ended with Melba on the Pilot 10-yard line, its deepest penetration of the night.

Hill Sparks Hansen Past Rockland 7-0

ROCKLAND, Sept. 12—George Hill turned an intercepted pass into a touchdown and the Hansen Huskies made it stand up for a 7-0 victory over Rockland yesterday.

Hill made his game-deciding interception in the second quarter, rambling the ball 15 yards. Don Holmquist added the extra point with a plunge.

The Hansen small, but determined, defense limited Rockland to just three first downs in the game. The Huskies' offensive efforts were hampered repeatedly by fumbles and the miscues cost them several good marches.

It was Hansen's first outing of the season.

BOSTON ADDS INCH TO BROAD JUMP MARK

Larrabee Equals Record In 400; Hayes Makes Olympic Trials Comeback

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12 (AP)—A year-incredible series of broad jumps by Ralph Boston—including a world record 27 feet, 4½ inches—a record-matching 44.9 by 30-year-old Mike Larrabee in the 400 meters and sprinter Bob Hayes' comeback highlighted today's final U.S. Olympic track and field trials. The two-day meet in vast Los Angeles coliseum will conclude Sunday. Boston, a lanky, 25-year-old graduate student running for the Southern California Striders, had a fantastic series of jumps; so good that his world record was only his second best of the afternoon.

He went 27 feet, 10 inches on his first jump, seven inches over the listed record of 27 feet, 3¼ inches by Igor Ter-Ovanesyan Russia, and the longest the world has ever seen. That jump, however, was aided by a 5.5 mile per hour wind, then followed with jumps of 26 feet, 11 inches, the record 27 feet, 4½ inches, 26 feet, 7½ inches, 26 feet, 8¾ inches pass.

The wind had abated by the time he got off his record leap before a crowd of 16,558. The first half of the two-day meet was caught in bright sunshine with temperatures in the mid 70s.

Larrabee, some five to 10 years older than most good dash men, came from behind with about 150 yards to go, collared the front-running Ulis Williams, then just fought off a counter rally by the lanky Arizona state student in the record matching 400.

Williams was timed in 45 flat while Ollan Cassell, who won the preliminary trials in New York, was third in 45.6.

Hayes, the burly flash from Florida A and M and generally regarded as the world's best sprinter, won the 100 meters in 10.1, finishing about a yard in front of Trenton Jackson of Illinois, who was timed in 10.2.

It was Hayes' last chance to win a berth on the team, and he left little doubt that he was ready, matching the American record he shares with several others.

All winners in New York have secured places on the team and needed only to demonstrate by their performances here that they are still in condition. The next two finishers qualify for the second and third positions in each event for the team that will represent this country in Tokyo.

Several New York winners, including veteran hurdler Hayes Jones, and steeplechaser Jeff Fishback, had their troubles, but it wasn't enough to knock them off the team.

Jones ran second to Willie Davenport of the Army in the 110-meter hurdles each timed in 13.8, and Fishback was third in the steeplechase behind the winning 8:44.2 by George Young, Phoenix, and Vic Zwolak, Villanova.

Gerry Lindgren, 18-year-old Spokane schoolboy, won the 10,000 meters in a good 29:02 flat, running the final 54.7 quarter before a standing ovation. This time was some 15 seconds better than his winning effort that made him the darling of the victory over Russia last month.

Dallas Long took the shot at 64 feet, 9 inches, followed by Randy Matson and Perry O'Brien, each with 63 feet, 10 inches. O'Brien's toss made him eligible for his fourth straight Olympic team.

World record holder Fred Hansen won the pole vault at 16 feet, 6 inches, winning on fewer misses over John Pennel, who cleared the same height.

Hal Connally, the world record holder, easily won the hammer throw at 223 feet, 5½ inches.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY

Once again the Big Sky conference idea has been made to Magic Valley friends of the University of Idaho and evidently well received. Baseball coach Wayne Anderson and basketball mentor Jim Goddard made the presentations at a Twin Falls area Vandal Booster meeting this week.

Hovey

While the two see great benefit in the new alignment, and we agree on the majority of points, the same two bugaboos still arise. There is little chance of them being erased in the immediate future.

The first, of course, is the matter of football scholarship cutbacks. "This is a problem and this will hurt," both summarized the idea of cutting from 75 to 60 grid-grants-in-aid. The other is the obvious fact that outsiders, and the powers that be, are not as impressed with the lineup as some have been led to believe.

While there is great similarity in financial resources, facilities, enrollment and population among those schools involved, this is the one conference—with the possible exception of the Missouri Valley league—that appears to hinge on basketball. Football, for the most part, appears in the unlikely position of being something for the conference to do before basketball along with cross country running.

It rather galls that in their last meeting the conference officials saw fit to raise the number of allowable sport scholarships to 20. It is seriously doubted that any of the schools ever have given 20 scholarships in track, baseball, golf, tennis, etc., combined. Yet, although admitting several coaches would have liked the grid scholarship limit raised, this barely received mention.

The fact this remains that starting next fall, Idaho fans will witness a tearing down of a patient that has faced crisis after crisis and just now appears to be on the mend. When this relapse has effectively clamped down, we also rest assured the allowed grid scholarships will be raised.

Goddard explained what the cutback next spring will mean to coach Dee Andros and his assistants while beating the recruiting circuit. "They will have to get more men on less money," he said. With about 17 seniors graduating next spring, the Idaho grid coaching staff faces a nifty proposition of providing a freshmen club with something like three scholarships.

Perhaps the recent recruiting successes of coach Andros and his aides have dulled the memories of fans who can't recall that Idaho had trouble getting much in the way of a fresh club with 10 to 12 scholarships.

Switching to the basketball theme it was reported here that the Big Sky must undergo a period of "probation" while the NCAA figures out a way to put the hoop champion in an NCAA regional tournament berth. The guesses ranged from two to three years. It was flatly turned down last spring.

One can't remember the NCAA finding any trouble at all in placing the AAWU (Big Five) champion in a berth in that league's first year of formation.

We reiterate that the Big Sky conference offers much for all its members, including Idaho. There is an old Idaho cry that scheduling outside major teams can be made only at the dictates of the opposing school makes the Vandals weary of constant concession. There is a realization that compromise has to be made to form alliances and agreement. Idaho, the leader and spearhead of the Big Sky, did not compromise its football, it sacrificed it.

At 75 scholarships Idaho indeed can not battle on equal terms with 125 scholarships consistently. Idaho maintains it would like to maintain grid relations with Northern division and intermountain area schools. The cutback more than hurts such plans. Unless the Big Sky is officially dubbed a "major" league, it dooms all its grid members to "small" college football classification.

After its years of kowtowing in the old Pacific Coast conference and to major colleges in football scheduling, one would think Idaho would now like to do a little demanding of its own. Apparently not.

BORAH TOPS LAS VEGAS

LAS VEGAS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Quarterback Steve Preece threw touchdown passes on plays that covered 58 and 80 yards last night to start his team on the way to a 38-0 victory over Las Vegas.

Bobcats Rally In Last Half, Tip Utah Club

SOUTH CACHE, Sept. 12—The Burley Bobcats, down by six points at halftime, came from behind to defeat South Cache 21-13 yesterday. But the victory was costly as Bobcats quarterback Russ Mallory broke a collarbone and will be out for the season.

Burley drew first blood, sending Robin Church in from 20 yards out on a T-formation sweep. Vance Mathews then scored on a first of three conversions.

South Cache rebounded in the second quarter, scoring first on a drive and then running an intercepted pass into the end zone.

Burley took the lead for good in the third quarter when John Schorzman broke up the middle and raced 40 yards. Then midway through the final period, Burley iced it with a 20-yard pass from Terry Jones to Church.

South Cache, turning on a passing assault, threatened again before the game ended, moving to the 15-yard line before Burley stopped the drive.

Banks Hits Chicago Past Cards 3-2

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ernie Banks' 20th homer, a two-run shot in the sixth inning, triggered the Chicago Cubs to a 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Billy Williams singled to open the sixth off loser Roger Craig. After Ron Santo flied out, Banks hit a first pitch homer over the left field catwalk.

Yankees Use Dropped Fly To Nip Twins

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Harmon Killebrew's muff of a line drive with two out in the ninth inning put Tony Kubek in position to score the winning run on Bobby Richardson's single for a 4-3 New York Yankee victory over the Minnesota Twins today.

The Yankees appeared to have the game safely stowed away as rookie Mel Stottlemyre, carrying a 3-2 lead into the ninth, easily disposed of the first two batters.

Zoilo Versalles kept the Twins' hopes alive with a single to left and scored the tying run a few moments later when pinch hitter Frank Kostro's looping fly to short right fell in front of Hector Lopez and bounced past the right fielder for a run-scoring double.

Ludick KOs Dupas in Second

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Sept. 12 (AP) — Willie Ludick, 23-year-old South African welterweight champion, knocked out Ralph Dupas, former junior middleweight titleholder, in the second round of a 10-round bout tonight.

A near capacity crowd of 9,000 saw the hard-hitting South African southpaw knock out the 28-year-old veteran from New Orleans after one minute of the second round.

The unranked, unheralded Ludick, a pro only 2½ years and in his 14th fight, mowed the clever, fleet-footed American to the ropes and then dropped him with a devastating left. Dupas tried to get up but he couldn't make it at the count of 10.

Angels Beat Sox 3-2 in Extra Innings

BOSTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Lou Clinton slammed a two-run homer in the 10th inning, boosting Los Angeles to a 3-2 victory over his former Boston teammates today.

The homer, Clinton's 12th, came off Bob Heffner following a one-out walk to pinch hitter Tom Satriano. The Red Sox traded Clinton to the Angels earlier this season.

Bobcats Trounce South Dakota

BROOKINGS, S. D., Sept. 12 (AP) — Montana State, led by halfback Ben Vaughn, shattered South Dakota State university 40-14 today.

Vaughn scored two times in the first period, one on a 50-yard pass play from quarterback Ray Foley.

Montana State rolled in two more touchdowns in the second period. Fullback Bob Sanden carried the ball over for one touchdown and Foley carried for a yard for the second.

Venturi Has Golf World Series Lead

SHOOTING FROM BEHIND TREE. Tony Lema reached the fairway on his second shot when the ball came to rest against a large tree on his drive from the No. 3 tee in the world series of golf Saturday at the Firestone Country club in Akron, O. He recovered by sinking a long putt for a par 4 on the hole. Lema came in second, one stroke behind first-round leader Ken Venturi's 60. Palmer and Nichols soared to a 74 and 77, respectively. Walt Alston Rumored Through With Dodgers, Headed for Reds

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Walter Alston, who only a year ago was hailed as a managerial genius in the Dodgers astonishing four-game world series sweep over the New York Yankees, is reported through in Los Angeles and headed for Cincinnati. This information comes from two separate and unrelated sources, who further insist that the Dodgers would like to hire Casey Stengel as manager for the 1965 season only. Incredible as these managerial manipulations may appear, a high Dodger official acknowledged there had been some preliminary discussions along those lines but added:

"How does one go about telling a man you want him for just one year?"

Stengel and Elston are working on one-year contracts. Stengel, in answer to an earlier Associated Press report that he would not return as manager of the New York Mets in 1965, declared he had not as yet given any thought to his plans for next year.

The Dodgers, greatly agitated by the team's poor showing on the field, are fearful it would reflect on their advance sale of tickets for next year and believe Stengel is just the man to give a hypo to the gate.

On the strength of last year's world series sweep, the Dodgers' advance for 1964 skyrocketed to a fantastic 1,200,000 pre-season sale, bringing in close to four million dollars before the gates had been opened.

Alston reportedly has been contacted by a Cincinnati official who advised him he was being considered for the manager's job in the event that Fred Hutchinson's ill health prevents him from returning next year. Alston is a native of Daartown, close to Cincinnati.

This move was denied by both Alston and Dodger General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi.

"No one from the Cincinnati club, nor from the Los Angeles club, for that matter, has talked to me about next year," Alston said flatly.

"The Cincinnati club would have had to ask us for permission before they could talk to Walt," said Bavasi. "To my knowledge, they haven't."

Asked about the report that Alston will not be with the Dodgers next year, Bavasi said:

"We haven't discussed next year and we won't until after the end of the season."

Dodger President Walter O'Malley made it clear that the decision to retain or fire Alston was Bavasi's.

"Buzzie has complete authority," said O'Malley. "I have never hired a manager. Nor have I ever fired one. Oh, yes, just one. Charlie Dressen. I did not re-engage Charlie simply because he insisted on a two-year contract. That was not in line with our club's policy."

O'Malley said, however, he and Bavasi would sit down and discuss the Dodgers' managerial plans for 1965 "when we get around to it."

MEANY DIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP) — Tom Meany, 61, promotion director of the New York Mets and a prominent sports writer and author for many years, died yesterday in Roosevelt hospital after a brief illness.

Lema Is Second, Palmer, Nichols Soar to 74, 77

AKRON, O., Sept. 12 (AP)—Confident Ken Venturi who has made enough money in the last three months to buy the Firestone golf course and plays it like he owns it already, held off a fast-closing Tony Lema and established a one-stroke lead after the first round today of the 36-hole world series of golf. Returning to the scene of his runaway triumph in the American classic a month ago, Venturi shot a sparkling 69, one under par.

But Venturi, who started a golf comeback when he won the U.S. open in June, wavered on the 18th hole for his only bogey.

Lema, the British open champion, had three birdies on the last five holes and closed to within one stroke with a 70.

Palmer, who went 17 holes before he got his first birdie, soared to a 74.

Nichols, wilder than Sandy Koufax as a boy, had two double bogeys on the back nine and finished with 77.

The final 18 holes in this televised meeting of the four major golf champions for a $50,000 first prize will be played Sunday, beginning at 1 p.m., over the mean, demanding 7,165-yard Firestone course.

The loot drops to $15,000 for the second place man and the other two must be content with $5,000 apiece.

"It was no day for scoring," Venturi said. "The wind made the long holes longer and the short holes shorter, so it didn't help either way."

The difficulties of the course, combined perhaps with the pressure caused by the size of the purse, created some wild—and very slow—golf.

Not once did all four men hit the same fairway with their drives.

And none escaped without a bogey, although it took 18 holes before Firestone tripped up Venturi. Ken's second shot on the 18th was on the front of the green about 115 feet from the hole.

He slugged the ball as hard as he could but it ended up five feet away and Venturi missed that putt.

The slow pace had Palmer fuming. "I can't play golf like this," he said, after nine holes.

Once during the back nine Palmer holed out his putt and then walked to the next tee without waiting for his companions—a move regarded as a silent protest against the slowness of play.

"I'll never play again in one of these things if they don't speed it up," Palmer said, after he finished. "It's not the tournament. It was just the slow play.

"I got off to a bad start and I got disgusted with the slow play.

Solons Stun Hailey With Early Assault

GOODING, Sept. 12—Exploding for three touchdowns in the first quarter, the poised Gooding senators took advantage of several Hailey fumbles and rolled to a 46-0 victory last night.

Hailey's best chance of the night came on the first play of the game when Gooding fumbled and the Wolverines took over on the five-yard line. But four plays later, Gooding has Hailey shoved back to the 35-yard line.

Then in quick succession Ron Adamson scored on a seven-yard run, capping a five-play, 35-yard march. Adamson came right back with another seven yarder and just before the quarter ended returned a punt 80 yards for his third score.

The second quarter saw the Senators convert a Hailey fumble at the 31-yard line into another touchdown, Rusty Purdy rambling the last eight yards.

In the third quarter Rusty Boyer intercepted a pass to set up another seven-yard sprint by Adamson and then Purdy hit Adamson with a 50-yard scoring pass.

Hendrix plunged four yards and Rusty Boyer swept right end for seven yards for the final two Senator touchdowns. Hendrix, John Paykov and Adamson got six of seven point-afters.

Hailey coach Emory Dietrich liked the backfield work of Fenwick and McGuffey and the line play of Bradshaw and Fife. Gene Wilkins anchored Gooding's defense.

It was the slowest round I ever played in my life."

In all it took more than five hours, 15 minutes to finish the 18 holes.

TWIN FALLS OVERCOMES WESTERN BY 12-7

Grinding Ground Game Erases 7-0 Halftime Deficit

LAS VEGAS, Sept. 12 — The Twin Falls Bruins turned loose a grinding ground attack in the final two quarters to erase a 7-0 halftime deficit and nip Western-high of Las Vegas 12-7 tonight. Alternating between the single wing and T attack, the Bruins amassed 301 yards on the ground as their passing attack resulted in Western's only touchdown on a 70-yard interception run. The Bruin defensive unit, growing stronger as the game wore on despite 94 degree heat, held Western, rated by many as Nevada's top team, to 76 yards net.

Through the first half Western prevented the Bruins from scoring by stacking the outside and Twin Falls had to shift to the single wing to open up the defenses.

Ron Tyler put Western on top midway through the second quarter when he picked off a John Astorquia pass in the flat and rambled 70 yards. Carl Wojciechowski added the extra point.

Turning their backs completely on passing, the Bruins began grinding out a touchdown march midway through the third quarter. With Western watching for the Bruins' reverse off the single wing, Twin Falls faked the play. Scott Strong kept the ball and broke off tackle without a hand being laid on him. He ended up in the end zone 52 yards away. Then came the first of two missed point-after attempts.

Twin Falls forced Western to punt after the ensuing kickoff and went to work with another drive. Strong, Tom Lynch, Larry Spiers and George McAdams shared the ball packing as Twin Falls moved 72 yards in hard earned chunks of three and four yards at a clip. Finally Scott went in from the six-yard line on a counter play.

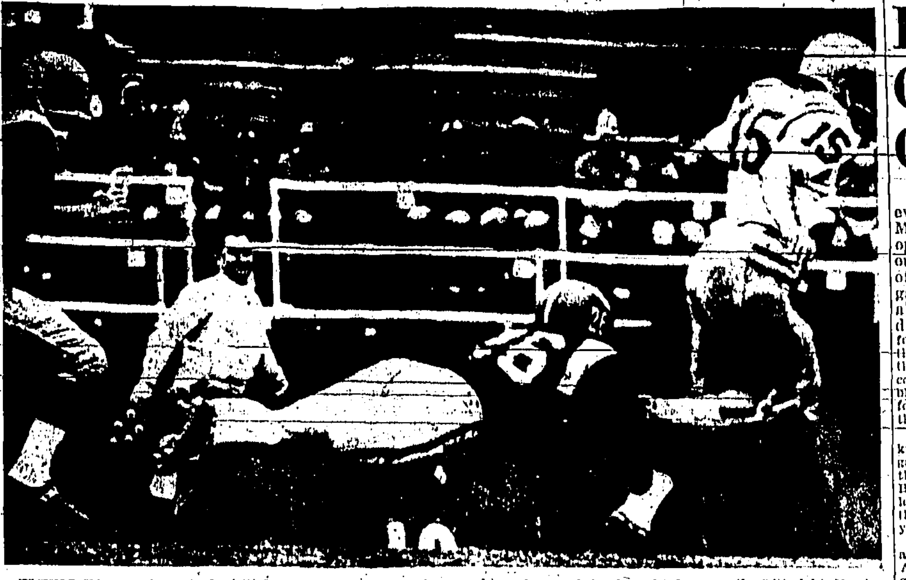

The final totals of the game showed Western with 76 net yards, 15 of them on one pass completion in nine tries. Twin Falls got 301 yards on the ground and 32 through the air.

Return Time

The Twin Falls Bruins will return from a 12-7 victory over Western of Las Vegas about 9 p.m. Sunday, reports coach Paul Ostyn.

Highland Grinds Out 14-6 Win Over Spartans

RUPERT, Sept. 12 — The Highland Rams, putting everything on workhorse Ray Millward, ground past the Minico Spartans 14-6 tonight. The Rams scored in the opening and closing minutes and stayed on top throughout thanks to an extra point. Three yards and a cloud of dust best typified the game with neither side able to shake the other's defense for much more four or five yards. In addition to the Rams' edge in extra points, the difference came when Minico, after moving 65 yards, fumbled away the ball early in the fourth quarter. Ball control was the keyword.

Highland took the opening kick-off and set the pace of the game with a slam-bang march that carried 72 yards in 17 plays. But along the way the Rams, looking very sharp, overcame three penalties, including a 15-yarder.

The key play in the drive was a 10-yard pass from Richard Anderson to Ned Bell and that gained back the 15-yard deficit. The rest of the time Millward, running half the plays inside, and Bell, alternating with Anderson's outside roll-outs, carried for three to five yards. Finally Anderson rolled out and swept four yards for the touchdown. Ted Messmore ran for the point-after.

Three plays after the ensuing kickoff the first quarter ended and Minico ate up eight minutes of the second period in moving from its own 30-yard line to a touchdown. The Spartans came up with clutch third down plays for their first downs and twice gambled on fourth and less than two.

Senior fullback John Breske got all the clutch yards as the Spartans gained the two-yard line. Brent Maughan scored from there but Alan Cueva's point-after-attempt failed.

The third quarter, except for four early Highland plays, was all Minico. Winning gamble on fourth and 18 inches at their own 10, the Spartans Richard Benke, Maughan and Breske did the packing, and picked up five first downs to the Rams' 30-yard line. But on the third play of the fourth quarter, Minico fumbled and Richard Kelly recovered for Highland. Bell raced 12 yards for one first down and Millward banged into the line three times for 11 yards and another. Anderson rolled out for 13 and then came the scoring sequence.

Millward bolted six yards to Minico's 19 on the first down play but a five-yard penalty set the Rams back on the next. Anderson was hit for a two-yard loss and a pass fell incomplete. Then Anderson rolled out on a bootleg and had two men wide open in the end zone. Elvon Hoskins made the catch on the 20-yard strike for the touchdown and Anderson rolled out for the point-after.

Cepeda, Hart Power Giants Past Phillies

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (AP) — Two homers by Orlando Cepeda, including a grandslam, and a two-run blast by Jim Hart powered the San Francisco Giants past the National league-leading Philadelphia Phillies 9-1 today.

Hart's 28th homer with Willie Mays on base in the first inning put the Giants ahead to stay.

Cepeda lofted his grand slam over the right-center field fence in the third off John Boozer, the second Phils' hurler. The 380-foot clout also came with two out after Boozer hit two batters and walked another.

Declo Strikes Early, Beats Indians 21-7

DECLO, Sept. 12 — The Declo Hornets struck for all their points in the first half yesterday and slammed past the Shoshone Indians 21-7.

John Goodman got the Hornets in front in the first quarter on a running play and then a 40-yard play from Mike Mathews to Larry Darrington shoved the Hornets in front 14-0. Before the half ended, Joe Bingham rambled 20 yards up the middle on a straight power play. Jim Fries booted all three extra points.

Shoshone, which defeated Oakley in its opener, prevented the shutout when Steve Thorne intercepted a third-quarter Declo pass and returned it 30 yards into the end zone. Defense then dominated the remainder of the game.

It was the second straight victory for coach Keith Wilson's Declo crew, who dropped Hailey 11-4 last week.

UCLA Shocks Pitt 17-12 in Grid Opener

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 (AP) — Quarterback Larry Zeno passed for two touchdowns and kicked a field goal today, leading UCLA to a 17-12 upset victory over Pitt in the first major college football game of the season.

In guiding the Bruins to victory, the first ever by a West Coast team in Pitt stadium, Zeno outdueled the Panthers' heralded field general, Fred Mazurek.

UCLA got what proved to be the winning touchdown with a little less than five minutes left in the first half. Starting the drive on their own 18-yard line following Pitt's first touchdown, the Bruins marched down the field in 13 plays, with Zeno passing 14 yards to end Dick Wichter.

Zeno added some insurance points three plays after Vic Lepisto intercepted a Mazurek pass. He broke over center for 33 yards to the Pitt eight and then kicked a 25-yard field goal on the last play of the half to make it 17-6.

Pitt, with reserve quarterback Kenny Lucas at the controls, narrowed the gap to 17-12 late in the third period when fullback Barry McKnight cracked over left guard for two yards and the touchdown. A two-point conversion try failed for the second time.

Jets Ride Defense Past Denver 30-6

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP) — The New York Jets rode an alert defense to an artistic and financial doubleplay tonight, rolling to a 30-6 victory over Denver in their debut at Shea stadium before the largest crowd in American Football league history—44,497.

Dick Wood passed for two touchdowns, Bill Mathis scored one on a short run and Jim Turner kicked three field goals and three extra points. But it was a Jet defense, anchored by Wahoo McDaniel, that stirred the crowd.

McDaniel, acquired from Denver in a nine-player trade, was in on numerous tackles and recovered a fumble that led to one of Turner's two field goals in the second quarter.

The defense took over for the Jets almost immediately as the AFL opened its fifth season of play when Bill Laird intercepted a Jackey Lee pass on the second play from scrimmage and brought it back 24 yards to the 26.

The Jets contented themselves with Turner's field goals until late in the fourth quarter the defense made the opportunities again.

They harried Gene Mingo on a field goal attempt, his kick was short, and the offense immediately seized the opportunity and in five plays had a touchdown on Wood's 30-yard pass to Don Maynard.

Orioles Nip A's in Rookie Hurlers Duel

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP) — Rookies Frank Bertaina of Baltimore and Bob Meyer of Kansas City matched brilliant one-hitters tonight as the Orioles, held hitless for seven innings, scored a run in the eighth on Jack Brandt's sacrifice fly and edged the Athletics 1-0. For seven and one-half innings, the only hit in the game was Doc Edwards' leadoff double in the fifth against Bertaina. John Orsino finally broke Meyer's spell, leading off the seventh with a double.

Bov Saverine ran for Orsino and moved to third on Bertaina's sacrifice bunt. Brandt then flied to Rocky Colavito in right field, and Saverine scored after the catch.

The Orioles had threatened to score without a hit in the seventh when Sam Bowens opened with a walk, moved to third on a sacrifice bunt and an infield out, then tried to score when one of Meyer's pitches got away from Edwards. But he was out at the plate, Edwards to Meyer.

The one-hitter was Bertaina's first major league victory in his third start since coming up from Elmira of the Eastern league last month. Meyer, who beat the Orioles last Monday with a six-hitter, lost his sixth game in eight decisions.

Both pitchers are rookie left-handers. Meyer started the season with New York but was sold to Los Angeles in June and then went to the Athletics two months later.

Al Spangler opened the Houston first with a double and moved to third on Nellie Fox' single. Bob Aspromonte's sacrifice fly delivered Spangler with Fox moving to center on the throw to the plate. Carroll Hardy's single to left brought Fox in with the winning run.

Grid Cards Drop Cowboys 16-6

DALLAS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Charley Johnson passed for one touchdown and set up two field goals for Jim Bakken tonight as the St. Louis Cardinals opened the National Football league season with a 16-6 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

Dallas threw away a chance to score and tie it up after Don Perkins had raced 53 yards to the Cardinal 21 and Don Meredith fumbled.

The Cowboys scored first in the opening quarter on a 14-yard pass by Meredith, who played most of the way on offense despite a leg injury.

Fleming's Arm Carries Bliss Past Tigers

BLISS, Sept. 12 — Dave Fleming limbered up his pass arm to throw three scoring strikes yesterday and pace the Bliss Bears to an 18-13 decision over the Richfield Tigers.

Although Bliss scored twice in the first half, coach Arlen Mussers' troops needed another score in the third period to ice the game.

Using a roll-out pattern effectively, Fleming hit Maxwell early in the game on a pass and run play that covered 30 yards. Before the half ended Fleming hooked up with Jim Calkins on another aerial, this one getting 40 yards and another six points.

Richfield came back with a touchdown in the third quarter by Jan Jansen but Bliss nullified it with one of its own. Bliss drove from midfield to the Richfield 10-yard line before the Fleming to Calkins combination clicked for the touchdown.

Sophomore Tim Cox and senior Willie Medley drew praise from coach Musser for their defensive work. Bliss is now 1-1, Richfield 0-2.

Leads Bowl Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (AP) — Las Vegas partners Louise Bibbs and Elaine Avella took the first half lead tonight in the women's doubles bowling championship for the western United States.

Interception Lets Oakley Nip Wendell

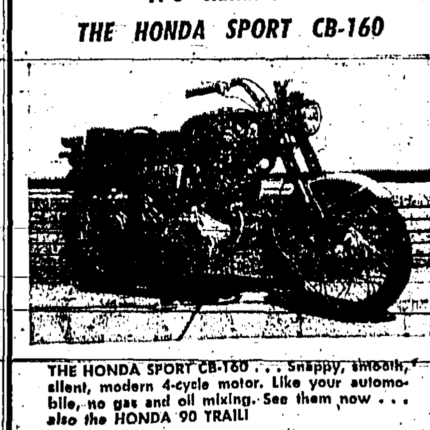

OAKLEY, Sept. 12 — The Oakley Hornets turned a blocked and intercepted pass into a touchdown and then added the decisive extra point yesterday to nip the Wendell Trojans 7-6.

Oakley's game-deciding play came in the second quarter with Wendell backed up against its own goal. The Trojans tried to throw a pass out of the end zone but Oakley right end Glenn Lake partially blocked it and left end Lloyd Adams caught it in the end zone. Jeff Maggarell then powered home the extra point.

Wendell came back with a short march, culminated quickly on a 30-yard run. But the Hornets then broke through to block the attempted conversion kick.

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1964

PULSATING ENGINES of diesel made little ones nervous as they lined the locomotive rail for a picture, but the guard rail felt reassuring. Nearly half of the boys and girls shown had never been on a train before. From left are David Gline, 14, a friend of the Robert Erkins family of Gooding county; Maria, 8, Melinda, 10, Greg, 14, lending a steadying hand to Mara, 2; Randy, 4, and Melanie, 6. The last six named are children of Mr. and Mrs. Erkins. Melissa Erkins, 12, was with her mother at the county fair, the separation which ultimately led to the train trip. (Times-News photo)

Trip by Train to Fair Is Thrilling

By O. A. (Gus) Kelker
Times-News Feature Editor

FILER, Sept. 12 — It was the biggest 45 cent ride of the century. Only trouble was, it was over practically as soon as it started.

The ride? A jump via Union Pacific train from Buhl to Filer —station to station no less— to attend the county fair at the latter point.

Reason? So that several youngsters of the Robert Erkins and Leo Souza families could have the thrill of a first ride on the train, and also so both families could attend the fair without walking from Buhl to the grounds in this community.

The idea of the train ride from Buhl to the fair came in whirlwind fashion.

It seems Robert Erkins, who operates the Snake River Trout ranch on the Snake river in Gooding county, suddenly became aware of the fact that his wife was working at a booth at the fair and had one daughter, Melissa, 12, with her. Also with her was the family car.

This created a problem. The help of Leo Souza, manager at the trout farm, was solicited. He had a car and lived in Buhl. So Erkins, his six other youngsters as well as Souza, his wife and two youngsters, all piled into the machine.

In addition, David Gline, 14, a friend of one of the Erkins youngsters, was along. That made an even dozen for the fair.

Why not stop at Buhl and have the Erkins family take the train? Good idea, thought both Erkins and Souza. Only thing was that between the trout farm and Buhl, Souza, his wife and youngsters decided to go along, too.

So all went to the Buhl depot and practically startled the train crew and station attendants as all ran to the window to purchase the necessary tickets.

By this time this Times-News writer-photographer and his assistant noticed all the commotion at the depot. They were in Buhl on another story.

The 12 scheduled train passengers and the two reporters discussed the situation and a decision was reached. It would make an interesting yarn, so a 13th ticket was purchased. The feature editor was going to join the group from Buhl to Filer.

Then the light dawned. With the cost only 45 cents to go the entire way from Buhl to Twin Falls, what was there to lose in

NOT ONLY was it the first train ride of their lives for Lynne, 4, and Laura, 8, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Souza, Buhl, but it was probably the first stove of this kind they had ever seen. Two such stoves, one in each end, are features of the chair car on the combination train operating between Buhl and Pocatello on the Union Pacific railroad. Mother and father also seem amused as they inspect the heating contraption. (Times-News photo)

NUMBER OF PEOPLE lining up for railroad tickets from Buhl to the fair at Filer practically startles Engineer Marvin Thomas, left, and Conductor Eugene A. Smith, at the window. Waiting in line at left are Melinda Erkins and Melanie Erkins, while the father, Robert Erkins, holds another daughter, Mara. The Buhl ticket agent is visible at the window's edge. The influx of 13 passengers for the fair caused quite a stir among bystanders. (Times-News photo)

STATELY STRUCTURE, suffering from the ravages of time and vandalism, once was the Cassia stake tabernacle of the LDS church at Oakley. Now deserted since the new tabernacle was constructed just north of the town in 1956, Oakley residents are divided on what should be done to the structure. One group thinks it should be torn down. Still another group envisions its establishment as a museum. (Times-News photo)

Issue Arises on Disposal of Old Tabernacle at Oakley

OAKLEY, Sept. 12—What will happen to the stately structure which for years was the Cassia stake tabernacle of the LDS church?

The building, standing deserted on a rise which gave it a prominent position in the community, has recently suffered from acts of vandalism, a recent inspection showed.

A local couple is thinking seriously of buying the building from Salt Lake City church authorities. What it would then be used for, or if it would be torn down, is not clear at the moment.

A group of residents of the area are of the opinion the structure should be preserved and be used as a museum.

The historic City of Rocks area, where pioneer wagon trains stopped en route to California, is only a few miles from here and recently was designated as a historic site, to be recognized as such nationwide.

This designation is expected to result in a sharp increase in visitors, eventually better roads and other improvements.

A good description of the building, dedicated in November, 1902, is found in a 1914 issue of the "Improvement Era," a magazine published by the LDS church. It follows:

"The building of Gothic architecture was dedicated by Elder John Henry Smith. It is built of brown and white, native lava rock, with a shingle roof, self-supporting girders and metal ceiling. It has a full-sized basement and measures on the outside 107 by 76 feet.

"There are five rooms, a main hall, vestry, council chamber and two rooms in the basement.

"The structure cost $13,000 with the labor donated by local workmen. The seating capacity is 700.

"It has a 10-acre plot of ground enclosed with a fence. Five acres are being laid out for amusements, with a grove, baseball grounds, swings, etc., with a fine body of water suitable for bathing and baptismal purposes in season.

"Two acres are covered with grass, while various fruit trees mingle with other trees in the grove. A stake janitor has charge of the house and grounds and he is assisted by donated work.

"The building, while attractive in design and durable in construction, is devoid of unnecessary embellishments.

"It is provided with three tiers of pews and choir seats for 50 singers, has a modern pipe organ, hot air furnace and electric lights."

A survey today shows the fence which surrounded the building is gone, as are the trees, the water pool area, the grass and the pipe organ.

Only the stately structure remains, high on a lonely hill at the edge of town.

Minting of New Dollars Scheduled for January

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (UPI)— Sometime within the next four months, the U.S. mint will start stamping out 45 million brand new silver dollars — the first to be produced since 1935. They will be issued with unusual precautions to insure that they get into general circulation in the far West.

The mint doesn't want the "cartwheels" to go the way of many coins these days — into the vaults of speculators trying to make a fast buck.

To prevent hoarding, the mint will take these steps:

1. The dollars will be produced only at the Denver mint. This will make it easy to distribute them in the West where they are a time-honored medium of exchange. None will be made in the other mint at Philadelphia.

2. From Denver, the coins will be shipped directly to western federal reserve banks—principally Los Angeles, San Francisco and Helena, Mont., which serve the areas where they are commonly used in trade.

3. The dollars will be handed out to the public through commercial banks only. No special proof or mints sets will be made up for collectors. Neither the mint nor the treasury will sell the coins.

4. The banks will be urged, through the American Bankers association and the federal banking agencies, not to sell the cartwheels at a premium to speculators—a practice believed responsible for keeping many of the new John F. Kennedy half dollars from circulation. Since there is nothing illegal about selling new coins at a profit, the Treasury plans to bring "moral pressure" on the banks.

5. The dollars will be rationed out at the rate of three million to five million a month. This is so they can't all be gobbled up at once.

Despite these precautions, some officials are doubtful that many DISCUSSING FINAL arrangements for their trip to Scotland, The United Kingdom and possibly Norway, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saxvik, Burley. Joe Salisbury, right, owner of Magic Carpet Travels, Twin Falls, who completed reservations, is at right. Saxvik was winner of the handicap golf tourney held in Twin Falls recently and, as a result, was awarded the trip overseas, permitting him to enter the International Rotary tourney at St. Andrews, Scotland. His wife will go with him. (Times-News photo)

Winner of Rotary Golf Tourney, Wife Excited as Flight to Scotland Nears

Robert Saxvik and his wife, Marilyn, are getting excited, and rightly so.

The Burley couple will leave here early Thursday morning en route to Scotland, where Robert will participate in the international handicap golf tournament of Rotary clubs to be played on the famed St. Andrews course — the "royal and ancient" place where the game of golf was born.

Young Saxvik, a member of the Rotary club at Burley, is vice-president and general manager of radio station KBAR in that community.

It was during the recent Rotary district conference in Twin Falls that he participated in the club handicap tourney at the Blue Lakes country club course. He won and, as a result, received the award of an expense-paid trip to Scotland for the international meet.

Saxvik admits to a little traveling in his life, but his wife declares she has never been east of Iowa.

"This will be some experience for both of us and we can hardly wait to get started," she said while in Twin Falls completing ticket arrangements at Magic Carpet Travels.

Her husband started golfing in 1956 and is, as he puts it, "a strict amateur."

"I was really lucky in winning this one," he laughs.

The trip both ways will be made by air and after the tourney in Scotland, the couple plans to tour the United Kingdom and possibly Norway. His grandparents were born in the latter country.

"I seem to have luck in getting free travel," he smiled as he left the travel agency. "Last time I got a free ride to Japan and Korea. I'm sure I'll like the trip to Scotland much better than I did when I went in the opposite direction."

LONG WAY UP causes some misgivings for Randy Erkins, 4, as he gets a boost from his father, Robert, so he can look into the engine cab. Engineer Marvin Thomas, Pocatello, waits to give an assist. It was Randy's first train trip, Buhl to Filer is not far in miles, but was thrilling in time for the youngsters. (Times-News photo) going all the way? The ticket was purchased and train boarded, but not before the assistant in the Times-News car agreed to drive back to Twin Falls and leave said car at the station with keys hidden under seat so the train rider, going all the way, would have a ride back to the paper.

Trip by Train to Fair Proves Thrilling Jaunt

The ride from Buhl to Filer was rather on the hectic side, what with the youngsters peering here and there in their new found method of transportation. The train crew enjoyed the whole thing, however, because it was just about like the good old days.

At the Filer station, with the "mob" getting off, townspeople thought prosperity had returned. Worst part about the whole trip, Erkins and Souza said later, was the walk from the station to the fairgrounds. The youngsters enjoyed it, but the adults did not.

So this is how the Erkins family—well, at least Robert, the father, and the youngsters Mara, 2; Randy, 4; Melanie, 6; Marla, 8; Melinda, 10, and Gregg, 14, got to the fair; likewise, Souza, his wife, and youngsters, Lynn, 4, and Laura, 8, likewise, the same journey for the friend, David Gilne.

Only Mrs. Erkins and the 12-year-old Melissa missed the thrill of the trip.

For the feature editor, who went all the way for 45 cents, it was the first time on a train in exactly 16 years.

New Dollars Will Roll In January

of the new dollars will find their way into general circulation or stay there for a very long time.

Officials are guessing that the first press run will be in January. This would leave the mint free the rest of this year to concentrate on other coins which are so badly needed in everyday commerce.

The probable minting schedule is nine million silver dollars a month from January to May.

Except for the date, they will be identical with those minted between 1921 and 1935—the so-called "Peace" dollars. Those were struck to commemorate the armistice that ended World War I.

The original master die will be used. It was made from a design by Anthony de Francisci, who beat out eight other prominent sculptors in a contest.

Legion Plans Special Fete For Veterans

RUPERT, Sept. 10—Plans were made to hold a social evening on Nov. 11, Armistice day, for all war veterans and their families when the American Legion met Tuesday evening at the Legion hall in Rupert.

George MacDonald was appointed by Cmdr. John Barlow to chairman the event. All known veterans of World war I and World war II will be invited to the social.

Rex Rasmussen reported on the American Legion junior baseball team sponsored during the summer as well as the Idaho Gem Boy's state held in Boise this spring. The Legion sponsored four boys to the annual event.

A program was presented under the supervision of program chairman George MacDonald. The Derold Green family, Heyburn, presented an instrumental number and Mrs. Harold Cheney gave a reading.

Also appearing on the program was Mrs. Don Handy and Mrs. LaMont Smith presenting two comical songs. Mrs. Handy accompanied on her ukulele.

Steven Broadhead sang two solos and a trio from Minico, including Dixie Walton, Joyce Emerson and Stanley Bruns, played two flute numbers.

Mrs. Rex Rasmussen served refreshments with Marie Purin and Mrs. Anna Guckenburg assisting.

Peace Officers Give $115 to Downey Widow

RUPERT, Sept. 12—The Magic Valley Peace Officers association has presented a check for $115 to the Daniel Platt Woodland memorial fund, according to Joe Reynolds, Rupert, president of the association.

Funds are being solicited to aid the widow and five children of Woodland, Downey village marshal who was killed in a gunfight with burglars last July 16. According to Joe Gnamez, Downey, chairman of the fund, this is the largest single contribution received to date.

Six persons were arrested after Marshal Woodland's slaying and await court action in Pocatello.

The Magic Valley Peace Officer's association is made up of employes of the sheriffs offices, highway department, fish and game and police department in Magic Valley.

Idaho Provides Wide Variety of Game For Hunters Seeking Prime Trophies

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish-Game Department

BOISE, Sept. 12—Man's centuries-old interest in taking and preserving trophies of the chase are found in ancient documents and prehistoric Indian rock paintings. Numerous references are made about people wearing big racks of antlers and horns as adornment or even status symbols.

Nowadays when an outstanding head rates among the best ever recorded for the species, the nimrod is proud, and justifiably so. He can relive the thrills of the hunt when it is properly mounted and hung in a place of honor in den or, perhaps, above the fireplace mantel. Other less fortunate hunters somehow get vicarious thrills from looking at the trophy and dreaming.

Idaho has many trophy animal species, including elk and deer with spreads big enough to make the International Boone and Crockett listings. Among the state's more rare species are moose, antelope, mountain goat and bighorn sheep, all highly prized by hunters from many points in this and foreign countries.

The Gem state even has a herd of caribou in the northern part of the Panhandle country, but these animals are protected year-round.

All antelope and moose hunting is controlled by allocation of permits through public drawings. Goat hunting south of the main Salmon river also is controlled in the same way, and a special controlled hunt involving five permits for bighorn sheep was scheduled this year in eastern Idaho's Fremont county.

Otherwise, bighorns are open this year, as usual, for general hunting in specified areas. However, bighorn sheep regulations set up a built-in protection peculiar to just this species. Bighorns with less than three-quarter curls are not legal, which means that only the older rams are bagged by hunters.

These sheep, and mountain goats as well, range in precipitous country which automatically separate the men from the boys, and sometimes eliminates hunters who are not in top physical shape.

This year, 1,190 pronghorn antelope permits were awarded to lucky applicants in the public drawing held in July. Most either-sex pronghorn hunting runs from Sept. 19 through 27. There are 23 different antelope hunts, and only one of these has a different season—hunt 406. It is Nov. 14-22.

Also noteworthy is the fact that any person holding a permit to hunt pronghorns this year will not be eligible to participate in the public drawing next year. The system not only controls the maximum number of pronghorns which may be harvested, but also rations available permits by chance.

Most of the state's 8,000 antelope today are found on the headwaters of the Big and Little Lost rivers, the Leuhi and Pahsimeroi drainages and along Birch and Crooked creeks, and from the latitude of Arco and Mud lake in Butte and Jefferson counties north to Salmon. Some also are found in southwestern Idaho in Owyhee county, and on the Snake river plains and Raft river valley in southcentral Idaho.

Permit holder odds of bagging the fleet desert runners with magnificent pronghorned heads, lithe bodies and keen senses are about seven to 10, according to past averages. This compares to deer hunter success of 50-60 per cent in many areas, and 25-30 per cent on elk.

Some pronghorn hunters, then, can expect to break camp and head for home empty-handed. They will have camped out a bit, roughed it up, seen a little country, gotten the butterflies out of their stomachs, but they will have no trophies for the taxidermists, no game meat for the locker, really nothing to brag about to their friends.

Yet every season there are several antelope left behind as carrion because the hunters who shot them were unable to find their game.

One reason is that few animals of similar size (about half as big as a deer) can withstand vital hits as well as antelope. Injured or downed animals sometimes are salvaged by other hunters, but without proper care on the spot, game soon sours.

Crippling losses and delayed death to game animals, especially pronghorns, can be reduced best by stalking and avoiding shots over 200 yards. Hits from greater distances are not likely to be vital.

Allowing hunters just one shot per season, and ruling out the use of telescopic sites in other states are attempts by game management people to bring hunters and pronghorns closer together.

Probably no North American animal personifies primeval solitude more than a massive bull moose standing along a pine-fringed shoreline, feeding in some lake or slough, or lumbering along a wilderness trail. During rutting season particularly, he can be "called" within a few yards of a hunter or photographer. But the keen-sensed monster is quick to catch human scent, or a false note—or a more amorous call from a genuine cow moose.

Only four western Intermountain states and, of course, Alaska, are ranged by moose in today's world. These are Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and a relatively small cubicle of contiguous territory in Utah. The largest number of Idaho moose are found in the forested lands of Clark, Teton and Fremont counties in that corner of the state adjacent to Yellowstone park and the Continental divide.

An important part of moose management is obtaining a reasonably accurate trend count and checking on their wintering areas each year. Airplanes are used by the Idaho fish and game department for such work. Trend counts do not expect to find every moose.

But when conducted yearly, they do provide valuable information regarding overall herd population ups and downs, among other information. About 1,800 moose now range Idaho from the Tetons north and west to the Bitterroots and beyond to the Canadian border.

Ninety-three controlled hunt moose permits were won through public drawings last July. There are 28 hunts in different localities around the state, with four different seasons.

Hunters, of course, must stalk these massive deerlike animals with humps on their backs, bell or dewlap growths hanging from their throats, and measuring up to about nine feet from the tips of their hooked Roman noses to their short, ridiculous tails only in the hunting sectors specified in the permits they hold.

Anyone who begs a moose this year in Idaho, or ever did, for that matter, is ineligible hereafter to participate in a moose permit drawing.

Oddly enough in view of the physical appearance of moose, one of Idaho's biggest management problems on this species occurs several times a year when hunters mistake the behemoth for an elk or deer.

But hunter fatalities and injuries more often than not result from the same thing—men who shoot first and look afterwards. If species identification is sure, there would be more moose available for legal shooting, and fewer gun accidents during the hunting season.

Interest in Youth Leads Ray Cartee, Buhl, to Work in 4-H, Scouts, Grange

BUHL, Sept. 12— Moral and spiritual guidance to help youngsters become responsible, mature citizens in the community has been the ambitious undertaking of Ray Cartee, 38-year-old Buhl farmer, who for the past several years has directed his energies in 4-H work, Scouting, Grange and church activities.

It is his belief young people who keep busy with constructive activities keep out of trouble. With this as a goal he has served as leader of the Cedar Draw 4-H Livestock club for the past seven years.

A firm believer in 4-H clubs, he has belonged since the age of 10 and led his own club by the time he was 16 years old. He surmises it also helps to stimulate youngster's interest in farming that may not have otherwise been possible, and through this interest tends to keep the young people on the farm and in the community.

Under his able guidance many members of the Cedar Draw Livestock club have attained top ranking honors and special awards for correct training in judging, fitting and showing, personal appearance and attitude, as well as proper care and training of their animals.

Interest in youth has caused him to serve three years as president of the West End 4-H Leaders and Sponsors council, chairman of the West End achievement day activities for several years; West End representative to County 4-H council and to take part as instructor at 4-H leaders training session.

As a farmer he is interested in the Grange, whose most important function is to gain legislative action for the farmers best interest, he asserted. The Grange, he notes, is one of the few ways a farmer has a voice in legislature.

Using resolutions and petitions the Grange has been able to give voice farmers' opinions to government officials on many occasions.

Cartee has held the post of assistant steward and then served as master of Cedar Draw Grange for two years. He's served as resolutions committee chairman, steward, member of the legislative and taxation committee for Twin Falls County Pomona Grange in addition to Pomona representative to the Citizens labor committee.

He is presently serving as steward of Lucerne Grange and was Idaho State Grange youth superintendant.

The energetic farmer also takes time out from farming and activities to devote time to church activities. He is a member of the LDS second ward association of teachers, served as sports director, has served as Scoutmaster of troop 2 sponsored by the church, and is presently serving as LDS stake missionary.

His efforts for outstanding work in the community netted him the Buhl Jaycee distinguished junior award in 1962.

Mrs. (RUTH) Cartee, shares her husbands enthusiams for community work, and during their past seven years of married life, in addition to raising a family, she has delved into 4-H work serving as leader along with her husband, held offices in Cedar Draw and Pomona Granges, and participates in church functions.

The Cartees also attended state Grange sessions as representatives from Cedar Draw Grange for three years. The couple was named runner up for two consecutive years in the State Grange young couple of the year contest.

Cartee's newest honor is being selected winner of the Grange Youth travel scholarship contest sponsored by national Grange. As winner he will receive an all expense paid trip to attend the Iowa state Grange conclave to be held Sept. 23-24 at Manchester.

Mrs. Cartee will accompany her husband. Purpose of the travel scholarship is to exchange ideas from one farming community to another through the Grange and to interest young people in Grange membership.

Cartee is a graduate of Filer high school and attended University of Idaho. He is presently farming 160 acres in the Lucerne district and raising dairy cattle. The Cartees have three children, Debbie, Brad and Mike.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

by STELLA

SUNDAY, Sept. 13—Born today, you possess a shrewdly analytical mind which takes its greatest pleasure from tackling the problems of others. It could be, however, that you should set that analytical mind to work more on your own difficulties than on other people's. You owe it to yourself and to those who depend upon you to remove your own problems; heed this warning or trouble may loom in the future.

You are extremely ambitious and, since you possess more than one person's rightful allotment of talent (though such things aren't ever rightfully alloted) you should be able to make your mark in just about any field you choose. So long as you maintain high standards and belief in your own potential, determination should carry you through.

There is a certain degree of impatience in your nature which could, if you are not quick to recognize it, cancel out much that is good just at the point when it is about to be achieved. Make a special effort to be patient near the end of your journey toward some goal. Else you might sink in sight of the ship.

Among those born on this date are: Sherwood Anderson, American author; Arnold Shonberg, Austrian—composer; Claudette Colbert, actress; J. B. Priestly, English novelist.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, Sept. 14

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—New beginnings may be made today with reasonable success. Don't expect miracles; be happy with steady, forward-looking progress.

LIBRA (Sept 24-Oct. 23)—Even the best-laid plans may be disrupted by today's discordant tendencies. Make every effort to achieve a single goal.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—You can minimize occupational hazards greatly by stepping up your own and your co-workers' efficiency. Seek the cooperation of all!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Your intuitive powers run high today and for the next few days. Know the difference, however, between a "hunch" and a "shot-in-the-dark."

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Keep to routine affairs as much as possible. If you are called upon to aid an old friend, drop everything and do so!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Make an effort to confine your interests to one level of activity. Otherwise you may suffer the loss of needed contacts.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Take particular care not to place yourself at a disadvantage in dealing with others. Be generous—but not foolish!

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—A show of your intellectual capacity—especially to those in authority—might not be amiss at this time.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—The Taurus whose ideas are bigger than his capabilities is in for a disappointment. Learn from the experience—and go on!

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Avoid exceeding your budget, but at the same time make it a point not to be penny-wise and pound-foolish!

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—The faults you think you see in another may be merely the reflection of your own. See yourself as others see you!

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Get in the swing of a full work week. You've five days to make a "killing!"

PTA Workshop Planned in T. F.

All principals, officers and chairman of the PTA organizations in the county are invited to attend.

Mrs. John E. Hayes, past president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Floyd Kisling, district PTA president; Ernest Ragland, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. F. R. Maibut, state board chairman, also will be on the program.

—ARRAYED IN GARB from her native Scotland is Mrs. Janet Brown, Ketchum resident, who was 85 years of age Aug. 28. She still operates her own business—"Brigadoon"—and has Scottish woolens and clothing on display in the living room of her small apartment. Outside her apartment, near Bald mountain plunge, is a small tree on the lawn which this time of year is covered with clusters of red berries. To an Idahoan it would be a mountain ash, but to Mrs. Brown it is a Rouan tree, typical of her homeland in the Scottish highlands.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

To the average person driving by the apartment of Mrs. Janet Brown, on the "U" around Bald Mountain plunge in KETCHUM, the small tree on the lawn in front of her window, which this time of year is covered with clusters of red berries, would be a mountain ash. But not so to Mrs. Brown. To her it is a Rouan tree—typical of her homeland in the Scottish highlands. "This Yankee soil is no good for ye, Rouan tree," says Mrs. Brown. "Ye should be on the mountainside, with heather all around ye, or by a lovely river in Tweedsmuir or Glen Brack." And Mrs. Brown should know whereof she speaks, for it was at Overton farm, Cambuslang, Lanarkshire, Scotland, that she was born 85 years ago Aug. 28.

Mrs. Brown muses it was her three brothers who first interested her in coming to America.

"They went to California and made names for themselves, although they had lots of grief trying to bring old country ideas to land fast becoming mechanized. But their old country habit of hard work landed them on top.

Rankin hill in the San Joaquin valley was named for John Rankin, her oldest brother. It is covered with fig trees and vineyards he planted.

Alex and Robert helped him run the Great Western vineyards and the Wahtoke Winery there.

The same idea of work has always kept Janet Brown happy. At 85 she is operating her own business, "Brigadoon, beside the bonnie briar bush."

Her genuine Scottish woolens and Scottish clothing, she displays in the living room of her small apartment.

But her business hours are getting shorter. She's fine in the morning and early afternoons, but along about 3 p. m. she has to have her nap.

"My neighbors and friends see that I want for nothing" she says. "Some of them are at Brigadoon every day to bring my groceries, and my mail or post my letters, bring me some delicacy they have cooked, or just to visit."

"How could a body ask for anything more of life?" she says.

"And then I am reminded of my homeland every day by my Rouan tree. And don't forget, ye had better prepare for a long, hard winter, for the Rouan tree has a lot of berries on it—and that sign never fails."

It was love at first sight for a handsome young HEYBURN man and pretty beauty operator from RUPERT, when they met several months ago at a church dance in Rupert. It wasn't until then that they learned they had "twin" names.

On June 5, this year, Delna Rae Fallis became the bride of Delton Ray Tippets. Both mothers of the couple claim this marriage is almost a dream come true for them.

Both families had 11 children, all single births, and both sets of parents desired a set of twins. Delna Rae and Delton Ray are now considered both families' "twins."

Although their mothers are not related, both maiden names are Allen. Mrs. Tippets was born in northern Utah and Mrs. Fallis in southern Utah.

Their personalities are the same and both have brown eyes. They feel the biggest contrast to the couple is that he is dark and she is light.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burkhart, BUHL, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a quiet dinner party with friends Aug. 20 at the Woodrow Ash residence.

Both are retired school teachers and were married Aug. 20, 1914, at Antigo, Wis., and moved to Idaho in 1937. They taught for a number of years in the CAREY high school. Burkhart, in addition to teaching mechanics, also operated a garage in the community.

The couple moved to Buhl in 1954, where Mrs. Burkhart served as librarian and taught Spanish for seven years in the local high school. Mrs. Burkhart has written articles for magazines and has done newspaper work and feature stories for various newspapers in the Midwest.

She is also the author of a book of poetry entitled, "Shakespeare Was Never Like This," which is in the publication stage and is expected to be on the market soon.

The couple has one son, John M. Burkhart, who's serving on the bureau of Indian affairs in Nome, Alaska, and one grandson, John Burkhart VI, Nome. In addition they have raised a nephew, John Burkhart, North Manchester, Ind., and a niece, Charlotte Burkhart, Fort Wayne, Ind.

PERKY LITTLE metal tabs from beer and soft drink cans this summer started poking their heads above the surface of sandy beaches in this general area and causing concern for resort operators and forest officials alike. The new tabs have taken the place of other openers in many instances. Users in resort areas are reported to be throwing the can in refuse containers—in most cases—but letting the new tabs fall wherever they may, resulting in cut feet. (Times-News photo)

BARE FEET AND SAND are fun, but those little silver things sticking out of the looking like tinfoil are dangerous, officials declare. The tabs are from opened beer—a cases, soft drink—cans. The new opening method is causing concern in resort areas b discarded tabs have resulted in some cut feet. (Times-News photo)

EASY-OPENING beer cans have not been on the market very long as time goes, but, resort officials say, they are making themselves felt by cropping up underneath bare feet running in lakeside sand. New cans eliminate need for usual openers but apparently the inventors failed to take into consideration what users would do with the tabs after the can was opened. Forest and resort officials report heads are at a loss how to cope with the situation. (Times-News photo)

Metal Beer Can Tabs Gain Notice

Something seems to be lurking under the sand on the beaches that wasn't there a few months ago.

The something is resulting in cut feet of bathers and other beach users, according to a forest service spokesman who recently visited in this area.

The spokesman is William Hurst, Ogden, assistant regional forester. He made his observations while in the Sawtooth valley—area, over Galena summit.

The forest official put his finger on the culprit—the metal tabs which are now the fad for beer-can openers. Some are found on soft drink cans, but right now, for the most part, they are featured on the beer containers.

He said the situation is general on sandy beach areas of the national forests and that the Sawtooth valley area — on the shores of Redfish lake, for instance—is no exception.

For the most part, the can users are putting the empty cans in the containers which the forest service provides for this type of trash. However, when the tab is pulled from the can it usually is discarded on the spot.

And the spot, Hurst pointed out, many times is a sandy beach where the tabs disappear only to turn up later embedded in someone's foot.

Other people connected with the tourist industry are quick to defend the new tab cans as being much easier and simpler to use than the old kind, which required a separate opener. They also admit, however, that disposal of the sharp tabs is resulting in a problem which is going to be hard to lick.

In addition to feet, there is another thing that the new tabs are expected to hurt. Those are the concerns which manufacture can openers.

Sorry

We goofed on a caption under an engraving in last Sunday's Feature Section.

The lines under the engraving in question came out that two men were shown in the picture. Actually there were two children and a woman and the caption should have read like this:

"Dual research is conducted by Mrs. Eugene Sturgill on the "Pied Piper of Hamelin" which will be the next project undertaken by the Community Children's theater. Two youngsters, also interested in the production, are Joe VanLeeuwen, reading a comic book, and Kelly Sturgill, assisting her mother with costume drawings."

CHOOSING A CHAIR

means more than selecting the right design, styling and color to live in harmony with your other furnishings. Even after you have decided what size chair you need for a particular room and place, there are still many unanswered questions. There is the matter of the size of the people who will normally be sitting in it, for instance . . . a very practical question.

What this means is that a short-legged person will tend to be uncomfortable in a chair that is too deep for him, or with arms too high. Conversely, a tall person will find a very low-backed chair uncomfortable.

Another tip: don't be put off by a chair that seems a shade too firm to you at first sitting. In fact, a chair can be too soft. Comfort comes more from proper support (the result of proper design and construction) than from softness alone, in a chair just as in a mattress.

Whatever you want in chairs . . . from deep, comfortable lounge chairs to striking occasional chairs, you'll find the variety of selection you want in our showroom display . . . in pleasing new decorator fabrics and colors. Come in soon!
